political theory and constitutional law      Governing Extractive Industries Anthony Bebbington, Abdul-Gafaru Abdulai, Denise Humphreys Bebbington, Marja Hinfelaar, Cynthia Sanborn, 2018-06-11 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence. It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations. Proposals for more effective natural resource governance emphasize the importance of institutions and governance but say less about the political conditions under which institutional change occurs. Governing Extractive Industries synthesizes findings regarding the political drivers of institutional change in extractive industry governance. It analyses resource governance from the late nineteenth century to the present in Bolivia, Ghana, Peru and Zambia, focusing on the ways in which resource governance and national political settlements interact. The authors focus on the ways in which resource governance and national political settlements interact, exploring the nature of elite politics, the emergence of new political actors, forms of political contention, changing ideas regarding natural resources and development, the geography of natural resource deposits and the influence of the transnational political economy of global commodity production.

Tobacco Goes to College Elizabeth Crisp Crawford, 2014-03-24 This is the first book to document the history of cigarette advertising on college and university campuses. From the 1920s to the 1960s, such advertisers had a strong financial grip on student media and thus a degree of financial power over colleges and universities across the nation. The tobacco industry's strength was so great many doubted whether student newspapers and other campus media could survive without them. When the Tobacco Institute, the organization that governed the industry, decided to pull their advertising in June of 1963, nearly 2,000 student publications needed to recover up to 50 percent of their newly lost revenue. Although student newspapers are the main focus of this book, tobacco's presence on campus permeated more than just the student paper. Cigarette brands were promoted at football games on campus radio and through campus representatives and promotional items were placed on campus in locations such as university stores and the student union.

Change and Challenge in Library and Information Science Education Margaret F. Stieg, Margaret Stieg Dalton, 1992 Caught between university administrators and a vocal profession, library schools are in the position of having to satisfy two sets of expectations that have become increasingly incompatible.

The American Liberal Tradition Reconsidered Mark Hulliung, 2010 Eight prominent scholars consider whether Louis Hartz's interpretation of liberalism in his classic 1955 book should be repudiated or updated and whether a study of America as a liberal society is still a rewarding undertaking.

He Shall Not Pass This Way Again Stephen L. Wasby, 1990 This is a collection of the papers of a 1989 conference held in recognition of the 50th anniversary of Justice Douglas's appointment to the Supreme Court. Wasby presents the views of 25 scholars on Douglas's constitutional perspectives on the First Amendment, civil rights, criminal law, privacy, the environment and internationalism, recorded during his record-breaking service of 36 years. The analysts contend that Douglas's contributions to constitutional law are not impressive and that his opinions were often terse, obscure, easy to ignore and usually devoid of any doctrinal content They nevertheless agree that his defense of civil liberties in crisis times his concern for American Indians and the environment his liberal constitutional internationalism and his famous opinion on the right to privacy in Griswold v Connecticut 1965 serve to give Douglas a high rank among the justices ISBN 0 8229 3644 5 39 95
