The Next America Paul Taylor, Pew Research Center, 2016-01-26 The America of the near future will look nothing like the America of the recent past America is in the throes of a demographic overhaul Huge generation gaps have opened up in our political and social values our economic well being our family structure our racial and ethnic identity our gender norms our religious affiliation and our technology use Today's Millennials well educated tech savvy underemployed twenty some things are at risk of becoming the first generation in American history to have a lower standard of living than their parents. Meantime more than 10 000 Baby Boomers are retiring every single day most of them not as well prepared financially as they had hoped. This graying of our population has helped polarize our politics put stresses on our social safety net and presented our elected leaders with a daunting challenge. How to keep faith with the old without bankrupting the young and starving the future. Every aspect of our demography is being fundamentally transformed. By mid century the population of the United States will be majority non white and our median age will edge above 40 both unprecedented milestones. But other rapidly aging economic powers like China Germany and Japan will have populations that are much older. With our heavy immigration flows the US is poised to remain relatively young. If we can get our spending priorities and generational equities in order we can keep our economy second to none. But doing so means we have to rebalance the social compact that binds young and old. In tomorrow's world yesterday's math will not add up. Drawing on Pew Research Center's extensive archive of public opinion surveys and demographic data The Next America is a rich portrait of where we are as a nation and where we're headed toward a future marked by the most striking social racial and economic shifts the country has seen in a century.

Zero Hour for Gen X Matthew Hennessey, 2018-08-14. In Zero Hour for Gen X Matthew Hennessey calls on his generation Generation X to take a stand against tech obsessed millennials apathetic baby boomers utopian Silicon Valley visionaries and the menace to top them all the soft totalitarian conspiracy known as the Internet of Things. Soon Gen Xers will be the only cohort of Americans who remember life as it was lived before the arrival of the Internet. They are as Hennessey dubs them the last adult generation the sole remaining link to a time when childhood was still a bit dangerous but produced adults who were naturally resilient. More than a decade into the social media revolution the American public is waking up to the idea that the tech sector's intentions might not be as pure as advertised. The mountains of money being made off our browsing habits and purchase histories are used to fund ever more extravagant and utopian projects that by their very natures will corrode the foundations of free society leaving us all helpless and digitally enslaved to an elite crew of ultra sophisticated tech geniuses. But it's not too late to turn the tide. There's still time for Gen X to write its own future. A spirited defense of free speech eye contact and the virtues of patience. Zero Hour for Gen X is a cultural history of the last 35 years an analysis of the current social and historical moment and a generational call to arms.

Englishes Seminar course Seminar 16 entries in the bibliography language English abstract. Every individual has a conception of his or her relationship to his parents. Correspondingly most societies have an understanding of the different generations that live within them and of the relationship that exists between these generations. In the early 1990s however the character of the generation born during the 60s and 70s thus mostly being in their twenties remained to many an enigma. Holtz 1. There seemed to be no way of identifying them as a group no obvious ideas political interests or
