Countless Sands Jeffrey Moser,Jason Protass,2024-12-31 Countless Sands presents engaging analyses of the diverse relationships between Buddhism and the environment that existed in medieval Asia Recent years have witnessed a surge in publications across the humanities that advance powerful ethical and political arguments to account for the human failure to respond effectively to global climate change While the contributors to this volume are attuned to this challenge rather than present explicit political arguments they pursue a subtler effort to historicize the environment as a site and subject of Buddhist practice while providing research grounded in rigorous analysis of complex and fragmentary sources The volume thereby mitigates against the Orientalist East West binaries that have long informed the invocation of Buddhism in Euro American environmental discourses As the chapters collectively demonstrate there was no singular consistently Buddhist understanding of the natural world but innumerable varied engagements preserved in discrete texts images and artifacts Through specific case studies the authors consider such questions as How did premodern Buddhists understand what we today call the environment How did they think about their earth How when and where did the various processes of the earth actually impinge on the practices of historical Buddhists What kinds of environmental imaginations informed specific Buddhist practices In so doing the authors explore the connections between the ways in which historical Buddhist communities interacted with their environments and how they understood those environments In the broader field of

Buddhist studies Countless Sands contributes to ongoing efforts to expand the locus of inquiry from textually based investigations of Buddhist doctrine to a broader examination of the complex and varied place of Buddhism in the lives of historical communities The book furthers this broader process by casting it in environmental terms and will engage readers looking for models of thought provoking historical analysis on environmental themes User-Friendly Tools Applied to Genetics or Systems Biology Helder Nakaya, Juilee Thakar, Vinicius Maracaja-Coutinho, 2020-12-01 This eBook is a collection of articles from a Frontiers Research Topic Frontiers Research Topics are very popular trademarks of the Frontiers Journals Series they are collections of at least ten articles all centered on a particular subject With their unique mix of varied contributions from Original Research to Review Articles Frontiers Research Topics unify the most influential researchers the latest key findings and historical advances in a hot research area Find out more on how to host your own Frontiers Research Topic or contribute to one as an author by contacting the Frontiers Editorial Office frontiersin.org about contact
