5. According to Article I of the Constitution, who has the power to declare war?

6. What power does the Constitution give the president in the area of war?

The Constitution requires a simple majority for some actions and a supermajority for others. A simple majority means more than half, while supermajority requirements can involve a 2/3 majority or a 3/4 majority. Most elections in the United States require a plurality, or the most votes, but not necessarily a majority.

- What bodies have the power to override a presidential veto?
  - What margin is required to override a presidential veto?
  - Where in the Constitution is the veto power described?

- What body has the power to ratify treaties?
  - What margin is required to ratify treaties?
  - Where in the Constitution is the ratification power described?
