Comparative Sociology of Examinations Fumiya Onaka, 2019-03-28 Contemporary societies are constructed constricted and constrained by various series of examinations. Governments of both Western and non-Western countries tend to conduct detailed multi-layered and continuous systems of tests or examinations. International tests such as PISA and TIMSS have also been introduced to compare the relative performances of learners within diverse educational institutions across different countries. Examinations therefore provide a methodological pivot for comparing a range of societies. They enable us to contrast the West and the East, the North and the South, tribal and mass society, ancient and postmodern civilization, and so on. Comparing parallel societies from across Asia, the Middle East, Europe, and North America, this book proposes fundamental transitions in sociological research from system to process and from communication to composition through intensive studies on examinations. It uses ethnographies, interviews, questionnaires, documents, statistics, and big data analyses to make comparisons on broad scales of time and space. In so doing, it suggests hypotheses encompassing different kinds of societies in human history, including those in the Axial Age and the Modern Ages.

Architects of World History Kenneth R. Curtis, Jerry H. Bentley, 2014-02-05 Architects of World History presents an innovative collection of original essays by leading scholars associated with World History, exploring through intellectual autobiography the ideas, challenges, and inspirations that are shaping the field. Features original, accessible contributions from pioneering scholars in the field. The Wiley International Handbook of History Teaching and Learning Scott Alan Metzger, Lauren McArthur Harris, 2018-03-02 A comprehensive review of the research literature on history education, with contributions from international experts. The Wiley International Handbook of History Teaching and Learning draws on contributions from an international panel of experts. Their writings explore the growth the field has experienced in the past three decades and offer observations on challenges and opportunities for the future. The contributors represent a wide range of pioneering, established, and promising new scholars with diverse perspectives on history education. Comprehensive in scope, the contributions cover major themes and issues in history education, including policy research and societal contexts, conceptual constructs of history education, ideologies, identities, and group experiences in history education, practices and learning, historical literacies, texts, media, and social spaces, and consensus and dissent. This vital resource contains original writings by more than 40 scholars from seven countries. Identifies major themes and issues shaping history education today. Highlights history education as a distinct field of scholarly inquiry and academic practice. Presents an authoritative survey of where the field has been and offers a view of what the future may hold. Written for scholars and students of education as well as history teachers with an interest in the current issues in their field The Wiley International Handbook of History Teaching and Learning is a comprehensive handbook that explores the increasingly global field of history education as it has evolved to the present day
