Aphrodite's Curse 2 The Goddesses Take Control:

Homer's Iliad: The Real Story John D. Martin, 2025-07-30 For the nearly three millennia since its creation the Iliad's Real Story has gone undiscovered. Homer, a blind poet as antiquity believed him to be, created a powerful war story which must have enthralled his listening audiences. But this story concealed another one, far grander in design and immensely more clever in execution, which can be discovered only by careful examination of the written text. Living in an age where literacy was minimal, Homer created this story for the gods and undoubtedly never expected any mortal to understand it. Homer's imaginative fantasy radically undermines traditional Trojan War mythology and exposes the speciousness of war's glory, the folly of the warriors who supposedly fight for it, and the amorality of the gods who help them do so. Homer's great war poem, great indeed war poem indeed, is in its depths antiwar. In piecing together the Iliad's web of secret plans, deeply hidden motives and subtle lies and deceptions, and in the process identifying and discarding post-Homeric corruptions to the text, we will find an Iliad which is not a prelude to Achilles' glorious early death and the Fall of Troy, but the opposite. In a concealed ending towards which the entire story has been leading, Homer's own words will tell us how Achilles, as supplicated by Priam, chooses a long life without renown and goes home. The Greek army, unwilling to fight without its greatest warrior, leaves also sparing peaceful, holy Troy, Zeus' favorite city and best hope for mankind. Homer tells this story with a brilliance that is almost unimaginable until one actually encounters it. The Real Iliad is an immense intellectual challenge and an inexhaustible source of surprises. Far from a formalistically heroic epic as has long been thought, it is an imaginative expression of the full creative powers of Western antiquity's greatest author.

Sacred Prostitution in the Ancient Greek World. From Aphrodite to Baubo to Cassandra and Beyond. Morris Silver, 2020-01-01 This book does not intend to demonstrate that Greeks and other ancient Mediterranean peoples, men and women, married and unmarried, sought and participated in sex for its own sake. That is, it is taken as obvious a given that they were able to separate sex for pleasure from sex for reproduction. There never were human beings who concerned themselves only with fertility. Neither does this study seek to demonstrate that some ancient Greeks were willing to provide sexual services to partners in return for the receipt of nonsexual benefits. Again, this is self-evident. Nor does this study intend to show that the ancient Mediterranean world was familiar with individuals and enterprises that regularly earned incomes by selling sexual services. Clearly, the ancient world knew prostitution as an occupation and as a form of enterprise. In an article published by Ugarit Forschungen in 2008, Silver 2006a, challenged the view that temple sacred prostitution did not exist in the ancient Near East. Contrary to such scholars as Julia Assante 1998, 2003, Martha T. Roth 2006, and Vinciane Pirenne Delforge 2010, ample evidence indicates that it did. For the convenience of readers, this article is included as a Supplement to the present volume. The original article has been reformatted to correct some typographical errors and to make it blend seamlessly into the present volume, but otherwise, it is unchanged. More recent materials from the ancient Near East are considered mostly in footnotes; however, the present study seeks to leap beyond this finding by showing that temple prostitution also flourished in the ancient Mediterranean That it did is of course an old view but the old supporting arguments often lack rigor and even clarity and the supporting evidence is fragmentary contradictory and often facially absurd e g Herodotus 1 199 1 5 Work of this kind has been discredited by scholars such as Fay Glinister 2000 and Stephanie Lynn Budin 2008 Daedalus and Thespis Walter Miller,1929 Reading
