

EXPLORING CREATION WITH PHYSICAL SCIENCE
3rd EDITION
COURSE GUIDE & ANSWER KEY

1. In the previous section, students learned which is the most abundant element in the Earth's crust. Now, students will learn about the third most abundant element in the Earth's crust, which is aluminum. To make sure the students can correctly identify aluminum, students will be given a sample of aluminum to look at. Then, they will be asked to identify the following element:

1. Carbon
2. Oxygen
3. Aluminum

4. Write the following questions:

When we use aluminum, what usually do we use aluminum for? (Give an example.)

5. When we use aluminum, what usually do we use aluminum for? (Give an example.)

6. When we use aluminum, what usually do we use aluminum for? (Give an example.)

In this experiment, students will be asked to look at the rock sample. Which rock sample is aluminum? (Remember, aluminum is the third most abundant element in the Earth's crust.)

7. Identify the following elements and determine if metal:

1. Gold
2. Iron
3. Aluminum
4. Lead

5. Draw an illustration of each of the four elements. Then, you should write the name of the element next to the illustration. For example, the first one should be gold. "The one on the left is aluminum." A student should respond, "The one on the right is aluminum." The second one should be gold. "The one on the right is gold." The third one should be aluminum. "The one on the right is aluminum." The fourth one should be lead. "The one on the right is lead."

6. Now, students will have to identify the three rocks from the rock sample. The one on the left is a rock sample. (Remember, a rock sample is a sample of rock, not a mineral.) The one on the right is a rock sample. The one on the right is a rock sample.

7. Identify the three rocks from the rock sample. The one on the left is a rock sample. The one on the right is a rock sample. The one on the right is a rock sample.
