Appeals Mechanism in International Investment Disputes Karl P Sauvant, 2008-04-08 This volume brings together significant contributions from leading voices in academia the legal profession and government on the increasingly important topic of international investment and the legal system in which it operates With the burgeoning size of international capital flows matched only by an explosion in international agreements intending to regulate the field there is increasing potential for incoherence amongst and between treaties and arbitral decisions Appeals Mechanism in International Investment Disputes compiles compares and contrasts the analysis and arguments of the leading scholars practitioners and government officials on the future of the international investment law regime Its special emphasis is on the question of an appellate body for international investment disputes The authors also seek ways to streamline and improve the system channeling the benefits of free trade and investment flows to people in both the developing and emerging markets The Appendices provide readers with extensive background material to place the chapters into context Selected sections include concise commentaries to further illuminate the timely themes covered by the chapters The volume is singular in its success at bringing together so many exceptional individuals on a question of growing import how to improve the international law regime to increase prosperity and further global development If a reader wants to know what the influential voices in international law are saying right now and in a concise and readable format this is the publication to have

China, the EU and International Investment Law Yuwen Li, Tong Qi, Cheng Bian, 2019-11-11 This book provides an original and critical analysis of the most contentious subjects being negotiated in the China EU Comprehensive Agreement on Investment CAI It focuses on the pathway of reforming investor state dispute settlement ISDS from both Chinese and European perspectives in the context of the China EU CAI and beyond The book is divided into three parts Part I examines key and controversial issues of the China EU CAI negotiations including market access sustainable development and human rights as well as comparing distinct features between the China EU CAI and the China US BIT Part II concentrates on the institutional reform of investor state arbitration with an extensive analysis of the EU s approach to replacing the private nature of investment arbitration with the public nature of an investment court Part III addresses the core substantive and procedural issues concerning ISDS such as the role of domestic courts in investment dispute settlement the status of state owned enterprises SOEs as investors transparency and the protection of victims in investment dispute resolution This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners in the field of international investment and trade law particularly investment dispute settlement

The State of International Arbitration Nicolette Butler, 2012 Currently most international investment disputes are settled through investment arbitration Investment arbitration is not carried out by a single omnipotent body or court rather it is carried out by a number of different bodies including permanent arbitral institutions as well as ad hoc tribunals These different institutions and tribunals often produce diametrically opposing decisions which are final and binding in cases where similar or even the same facts are at stake This is possible because binding precedent and stare decisis do not operate in international investment arbitration The conflicting decisions that are being made are causing a crisis of consistency and uniformity in international investment arbitration In order to address this crisis and reduce the capacity for inconsistent decisions to occur commentators have suggested various reforms to the system of international investment arbitration One suggestion that has been put forward is the introduction of an appeal mechanism The primary objective of this thesis is to examine this proposal in detail The thesis explores the debate around the possible establishment of an appeals facility analysing the basis of the call for as well as the potential advantages and disadvantages of an appellate mechanism It is submitted that the basis of the call has been established and that the benefits would outweigh any demerits Accordingly the thesis moves on to explore how an appeals facility might best be introduced A few suggestions have been made in this regard in the past including the creation of a centralised world investment court This and indeed others will be closely examined in this work Finally the thesis will consider whether any existing international or regional dispute settlement mechanisms could serve as inspiration for any future reforms to the system of international investment arbitration

International Investment Perspectives ,2006      Yearbook on International Investment Law & Policy 2008-2009 Karl P Sauvant,2009-07-02

Today international investment law consists of a network of multifaceted multilayered international treaties that in one way or another involve virtually every country of the world The evolution of this network continues raising a host of issues regarding international investment law and policy especially in the area of international investment disputes This Yearbook monitors current developments in international investment law and policy focusing in Part One on trends in foreign direct investment FDI international investment agreements and investment disputes with a special look at developments in the oil and gas sector Part Two then looks at central issues in the contemporary discussions on international investment law and policy With contributions by leading experts in the field this title provides timely authoritative information on FDI that can be used by a wide audience including practitioners academics researchers and policy makers

Denver Journal of International Law and Policy ,2010      International Business Transactions Daniel C. K. Chow,Thomas J. Schoenbaum,2010

Now there is a casebook with an innovative approach that covers the planning structure and implementation of the private international business transactions that characterize transnational commerce in the modern world Internal Business Transactions Problems Cases and Materials is a concise teaching tool that will prepare students for future work in the international business law arena The casebook addresses the four principal channels of modern international commerce trade in goods trade in services transfer of technology and knowledge foreign direct investment and focuses on transnational business and commercial transactions involving private entities or between private entities and governmental organizations acting in a commercial capacity The casebook is distinctly realistic and practical while also covering important policy and ethical issues integrates the regulation of international trade treaties trade agreements and other public law defining the trade relationships among nations into the casebook as background material while concentrating on the transactional aspects of international business to give students a preview of practice devotes equal coverage to developed and developing nations includes a chapter on the social obligations of multinational enterprises an area of growing importance and materials on the ethical political and cultural issues facing modern international transactions lawyers provides extensive coverage of intellectual property uses frequent short problems to serve as a basis for classroom discussion provides up to date cases plus textual explanations and analysis written by the authors with less reliance on excerpts from law review articles treaties and other secondary sources maintains a manageable length to avoid overwhelming students and to maximize teaching flexibility provides briefs of the principal cases      Symposium ,2009      The Place of International Obligations in the Domestic Legal Order of States ,2008      ICSID Review ,2005      The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009      Time for the Appeal Tribunal in Investment Ahmet Dulger, This Thesis presents a proposal for building an effective legitimate and transparent judicial system in the investor state dispute settlement through an appellate review mechanism for the awards of ad hoc arbitral tribunals Current investment dispute settlement system includes the arbitration facilities provided by institutions such as ICSID and ad hoc arbitration tribunals agreed by the disputing parties This Thesis argues that this scheme of investment arbitration lacks the mechanisms for correcting the legal errors and securing the consistency between arbitral awards for the similar issues of investment law As a comparable mechanism the WTO Dispute Settlement Mechanism is examined to contribute to the establishment of a viable appellate mechanism in the investment arbitration The WTO Appellate Body is the leading example for a multilateral dispute settlement mechanism Therefore lessons from the WTO experience and structure of the WTO Appellate Body are examined to create a transparent appellate mechanism for investment arbitration Opposed to the EU TTIP Proposal on the establishment of a tribunal of first instance the investment law must keep its ad hoc arbitration system in order to respond the unique needs of each dispute With the aim of improving the dispute settlement system the Appeal Tribunal a standing body charged with deciding appeals of law is at the center of the proposal By preserving the flexibility of ad hoc tribunals the Appeal Tribunal would be likely to achieve the goal of harmonizing international investment law      Current Publications in Legal and Related Fields ,2009      Proceedings of the Annual Meeting American Society of International Law,2005      Penn State International Law Review ,2004

Investor-state Dispute Settlement and Impact on Investment Rulemaking United Nations Conference on Trade and Development,2007 The aim of this study is to take stock of and to analyse the major developments in the interpretation of procedural and substantive international investment agreement IIA provisions as contained in bilateral investment treaties and economic integration agreements with investment provisions It addresses the implications of those developments for countries emphasizing the particular needs of developing countries It presents some conclusions and reflections on possible next steps that countries could take to implement the lessons learned from the investor State dispute settlement experience
