Boring Postcards Usa:

Boring Postcards USA Martin Parr, 2000-10-18 In Boring Postcards Magnum photographer and postcard enthusiast Martin Parr brought together 160 of the dullest postcards of 1950s 60s and 70s Britain to make a book that was contrary to the conceit of its title both fascinating and extremely funny It was one of those ideas that seemed so obvious that no one could believe it hadn't been done before and it caught the public imagination in a big way In Britain Boring Postcards was discussed everywhere from daytime TV shows to art and design magazines from local newspapers and radio stations outraged that their town should be labelled boring to Time magazine Now Parr has turned his attention to the USA for a new book of Boring Postcards Just as before for a postcard to qualify as sufficiently boring either its composition its content or the characters featured must be arguably boring or the photograph must be absent of anything that might conventionally be described as interesting As the study of postcards becomes a field of academic interest this book offers more than amusement as a folk art recording of the non places and non events of post war America it reveals poignant insights into its social cultural and architectural values Boring Postcards Martin Parr, 2008-03-01 A runaway hit this book presents the cream of photographer Martin Parr's fabled collection of British postcards of the 1950s 1970s Presents 155 comically dull postcards of places ranging from airport terminals to caravan sites bus stations motorways and housing estates Tackles with wit and irony such subjects as bad taste food the tourist shopping and the foibles of the British A unique documentary of British architecture social life and identity Post Ex Sub Dis Ghent Urban Studies Team, 2002 Post ex sub and dis these are but a few of the prefixes that have been used to compose neologisms for describing the contemporary cityscape Terms such as posturban space postsuburbia exurbia and disurbia are part of a dizzying collection of often hotly contested labels This plethora demonstrates how difficult it has become to name map and analyse the cityscape Urban environments have come to evince a radically chaotic and fragmented structure This book explores how fragmentation has acquired new meanings and how the urban landscape is constantly being deconstructed and reconstructed Richly illustrated with works by artists and photographers the volume contains a series of essays on spatial social and cultural issues written by distinguished scholars from an unusual variety of disciplines Wish I Were Here Mark Kingwell, 2019-04-08 Are you bored of the endless scroll of your social media feed Do you swipe left before considering the human being whose face you just summarily rejected Do you skim articles on your screen in search of intellectual stimulation that never arrives If so this book is the philosophical lifeline you have been waiting for Offering a timely meditation on the profound effects of constant immersion in technology also known as the Interface Wish I Were Here draws on philosophical analysis of boredom and happiness to examine the pressing issues of screen addiction and the lure of online outrage Without moralizing Mark Kingwell takes seriously the possibility that current conditions of life and connection are creating hollowed out human selves divorced from their own external world While scrolling swiping and clicking suggest purposeful action such as choosing and connecting with others

Kingwell argues that repeated flicks of the finger provide merely the shadow of meaning by reducing us to scattered data fragments Twitter feeds Instagram posts shopping preferences and text trends captured by algorithms Written in accessible language that references both classical philosophers and contemporary critics Wish I Were Here turns to philosophy for a cure to the widespread unease that something is amiss in modern waking life Postcards David Prochaska, Jordana Mendelson, 2010 Examines postcards as images that are carriers of text and textual correspondence that circulate images across boundaries of class gender nationality and race Discusses issues concerning the concrete practices of production consumption collection and appropriation Reading the Everyday Joe Moran, 2005-11-16 In an ever growing field of study this is a major contribution to one of the key areas in cultural studies and cultural theory the spaces practices and mythologies of our everyday culture Drawing on the work of such continental theorists as Henri Lefebvre Michel de Certeau Marc Aug and Siegfried Kracauer Joe Moran explores the concrete sites and routines of everyday life and how they are represented through political discourse news media material culture photography reality TV shows CCTV and much more Unique in his focus of the under explored banal aspects of everyday culture including office life commuting traffic and mass housing Moran re evaluates conventional notions of everyday life in cultural studies and shows that analysing such boring phenomena can help make sense of cultural and social change This book is interdisciplinary in its approach and covers many different areas including visual culture cultural geography material culture and cultural history as well as the key areas of cultural studies and sociology Students from all these subjects will find this clearly written and lively work an invaluable study resource Interiors, 2001 Boring Postcards UK and USA Paperback Published in February 2004 in the UK, 2005 Across the Board, 2003 Eye, 2000 Over (t)here Rob Kroes, 2005 This study written by European and American scholars reflects on mutual cultural interpenetrations during the past centuries showing how European culture affects American culture and vice versa It explores how the unceasing exchange of people images and ideas has resulted in cultural transformations within politics literature art media religion commerce and education Bookforum, 1998 Type Addict-ed Viction:workshop, 2007 From 2D to 3D design types are another key visual besides pure graphics and illustration How to deal with types is a common challenge among designers and artists from various design disciplines The book presents in alphabetical order a rich selection of experimental and inspirational typefaces and reveals the diversity and innovative approaches of contemporary typography Examples of work by up and coming practitioners as well as international and renowned icons are demonstrated The Publishers Weekly, 2004 Encyclopedia of Twentieth-century Photography Lynne Warren, 2006 Publisher description Library Journal Melvil Dewey, Richard Rogers Bowker, L.
