Before answering the questions below, refer to the full FRQ question provided here for provided by your teacher. Read carefully. Some questions will ask you to identify the correct response (one worthy answer), while others will ask you to identify the incorrect response (non-worthy answers).

(a.) Based on the data in the graph, identify the habitat type with the greatest number of forests.

1. Which response below would NOT earn the FRQ point?
 - a. Primary forest
 - b. One habitat type with the greatest number of forests are clearings, gardens.
 - c. Clearings and gardens were the habitats with the most forests counted.
 - d. Clearings, gardens

(b.) Based on the data in the graph, describe the relationship between the forest numbers observed on islands with and without mangrove populations.

2. Which response below would NOT earn the FRQ point?
 - a. When mangroves are present, the forest populations will fluctuate based on habitat but are overall reduced compared to islands without the mangroves.
 - b. As the number of mangrove populations rise, forest populations increase as well. When mangroves are not present, forest populations decline.
 - c. The relationship between the forest numbers observed on the islands is that they both rise and fall at the same time.
 - d. The difference observed between islands with mangroves present and islands mangrove free there is a direct correlation with the habitat population. The population decreases of forests when mangroves are present within their habitats.

(c.) Based on the theory of island biogeography, describe the characteristics of an island with the greatest species diversity.

3. Which response below would NOT earn the FRQ point?
 - a. Mangroves present, islands have the greatest species diversity. This means, there is more of a variety of species and there is balance in the ecosystem.
 - b. A large island, closer to the mainland and ample precipitation and rich soil will have the highest species diversity.
 - c. Based on the theory of island biogeography the island with the greatest species diversity is an island closer to mainland and larger in size. An island closer to mainland is more easily accessible to different kinds of species and the larger it is, it is able to hold the greater variety of species that it can host.
 - d. An island with the greatest species diversity would be both large and close to a larger body of land. It would also have several different habitats.

(d.) Describe one environmental problem caused by invasive animal species.

4. Which response below would NOT earn the FRQ point?
 - a. Invasive species are harmful to the ecosystem and can decline a species population which puts the food chain off balance.
 - b. An invasive animal species may fill the same niche as a native species, compete with it, and replace the native species throwing the relationships the native species had out of balance.
 - c. Invasive animal species may fill the same niche as a native species, compete with it, and replace the native species throwing the relationships the native species had out of balance.
 - d. One environmental problem caused by invasive animal species may be that a species native species takes up, the the invasive species may cause the native species to become extinct. This may cause the extinction of the native species.
 - e. Invasive species can consume resources that native species need.
