— Background and Objective: The 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico has been cited as one of the most severe oil spills ever. The spill was caused by a ruptured wellhead, which released approximately 4.9 million barrels of crude oil into the Gulf of Mexico. The spill had a significant impact on the environment, including the loss of habitat for marine life and the degradation of coastal ecosystems. The purpose of this study was to evaluate the impact of the spill on the Gulf of Mexico ecosystem and to develop recommendations for future oil spill response and prevention.
