#5 - #7: Describe the correlation you would expect between the data. Explain.

5. The age of an automobile and its odometer reading.

Strong positive correlation because as the age of a car increases so does its odometer.

6. The amount of time spent fishing and the amount of bait in the bucket.

Strong negative correlation because the more time spent fishing the less bait in the bucket.

7. The number of passengers in a car and the number of traffic lights on the route.

There is no correlation between the number of passengers and the number of traffic lights.
