Essential Readings in Health Behavior: Theory and Practice Mark Edberg, 2009-07-01 The Uncharted Path from Clinic-based to Community-based Research Bonita Stanton, Jennifer Galbraith, Linda Kaljee, 2008 Community based health related research requires a reciprocal relationship between researchers and communities that differs from the relationships established in clinic based health related research In the former not only is there a direct relationship with the individual as there is in clinic based research but an equally important and constantly changing relationship with the community Also in community based research relationships change from that in which individuals are subjects of research to the same individuals as participants or partners in the research process These academic community relationships are especially complex because frequently the community does not speak with a single voice and may have multiple different constituencies and perspectives In addition research teams comprised of several disciplines may be perceived as coming from unique academic communities which of themselves may have different ways of envisioning community based research There is a recent call for more transdisciplinary research and yet there are limited empirical studies available which critically examine how disciplines work separately and in tangent to affect community based research This book will be used both by researchers and by those teaching upper graduate level and graduate level health education
