Becoming And Being Old Sociological Approaches To Later Life:

Becoming and Being Old Bill Bytheway, Teresa Keil, Patricia Allatt, 1989-03-01 In this volume contributors examine the assumptions normally made about the elderly and offer differing sociological perspectives on becoming and being old and on the concept of age itself Instead of seeing the elderly in terms of needs they offer alternative analyses in light of class gender and race Examining the life cycle perspective on old age they show how retirement from the workforce is only one aspect of becoming old and arguably one which is important for only a minority of the ageing population The Futures of Old Age

John A Vincent, Chris Phillipson, Murna Downs, 2006-05-15 What is the future of old age How will families services and economies adapt to an older population Such questions often provoke extreme and opposing answers some see ageing populations as having the potential to undermine economic growth and prosperity others see new and exciting ways of living in old age The Futures of Old Age places these questions in the context of social and political change and assesses what the various futures of old age might be Prepared by the British Society of Gerontology The Futures of Old Age brings together a team of leading international gerontologists from the United Kingdom and United States drawing on their expertise and research The book's seven sections deal with key contemporary themes including population ageing households and families health wealth pensions migration inequalities gender and self and identity in later life Social Work Practice with Older

People Rory Lynch, 2013-11-13 Older people are the biggest service user group for social workers and an increasing proportion of the population In this refreshingly positive and practical textbook Rory Lynch draws on years of practice and teaching experience to show how to achieve best social work practice with older adults He takes a person centred approach which fosters respect by valuing the fact that elderly people have more lived experience than others Exploring the key theoretical approaches and methods of intervention this book helps social workers to identify understand and facilitate their service users wishes for well being and a fulfilling older age Chapters are practice driven containing case studies drawn from a range of care settings reflective questions and exercises Mapping directly onto the key modules on the social work degree this is essential reading for all student social workers especially as they prepare to go on their practice placement It is also valuable reading for qualified social workers Rory Lynch is Lecturer in Social Work at Robert Gordon University Towards Enabling Geographies Edward Hall, 2016-02-24 Over the past 15 years geography has made many significant contributions to our understanding of disabled people's identities lives and place in society and space Towards Enabling Geographies brings together leading scholars to showcase the second wave of geographical studies concerned with disability and embodied differences This area has broadened and challenged conventional boundaries of disability expanding the kinds of embodied differences considered while continuing to grapple with important challenges such as policy relevance and the use of more inclusionary research approaches This book demonstrates the value of a spatial conceptualization of disability and disablement to a broader social science audience whilst examining how this conceptualization can be further developed and refined Older Women in the Criminal Justice System Azrini Wahidin,2004-06-23 What is life like for the women who grow old behind bars Azrini Wahidin examines in depth the experiences and needs of this overlooked group Illuminating reading for all those working in the prison services probation and the courts Older Women in the Criminal Justice System offers a rare view of what happens to women who grow old in prison Ageing Identities and Women's Everyday Talk in a Hair Salon Rachel Heinrichsmeier,2020-01-14 The ageing of the world s populations particularly in Western developed countries is a well documented phenomenon and despite many positive images of later life in the media and public discourse later life is frequently depicted as a time of inevitable physical and cognitive decline Against this background Heinrichsmeier presents the results of her two year sociolinguistic study examining how a group of older women of different ages negotiated their way through their own and others expectations of ageing and constructed different kinds of older and other identities for themselves Through vivid and nuanced analysis of their chat and practices in a small village hair salon Heinrichsmeier reveals these women s subtle and skilful manipulation of stereotypes of ageing and the impact of the evolving talk on their identity constructions Her study which provides numerous short extracts of talk in both the hair salon and interview along with more detailed case studies highlights the importance of such apparently trivial sites for both studying older people s identity work and as loci for positive identity constructions and well being in later life This book will be of particular interest to graduate students and scholars working in sociolinguistics discourse analysis conversation analysis and gerontological studies as well as those interested in approaches integrating ethnography and language The Social Policy of Old Age Miriam Bernard,Judith Phillips,1998 The Need for Theory Simon Biggs,Ariela Lowenstein,Jon Hendricks,2003 The Need for Theory speaks to the burgeoning need for critical thinking in social gerontology The editors have brought together some of the foremost contributors to theoretical advances in the field This volume incorporates state of the art theorizing with a focus on selected topical areas facing gerontologists around the world Using their keen insights into substantive issues the contributors examine personal and structural changes affecting individuals over the life course Extolling the heed for theory is not enough the contributors focus their insights on a panoply of substantive issues linking the personal with the political and with the structural parameters that shape the process of aging no matter where it occurs Ageing in Society John Bond (BA.),Peter G. Coleman,1990 Drawing on theoretical perspectives from sociology psychology and biology the authors aim to introduce the reader to an understanding of the ageing process and to present a more positive view of human ageing A Guide to Humanistic Studies in Aging Thomas R. Cole,Ruth E. Ray,Robert Kastenbaum,2010-06 Aging has long been of interest to scholars and practitioners in a vast array of academic fields and professions Thomas R Cole Ruth E Ray and Robert Kastenbaum have brought together leaders from a variety of academic realms to explore how aging is depicted in the modern era and the effect of these portrayals on individuals and society Environment and Planning ,2000 International interdisciplinary journal discussing the relations between Society and Space Space is broadly conceived from landscapes of the body to global geographies from cyberspace to old growth forests as metaphorical and material as theoretical construct and empirical fact Covers both practical politics and the abstractions of social theory The International Journal of Aging & Human Development ,1994 Cultural Gerontology Lars Andersson,2002-11-30 Many disparate academic political and social issues fall under the umbrella of cultural gerontology and this volume brings them together and challenges mainstream gerontology Politics, Power and Old Age John A. Vincent,1999 This volume introduces ideas dilemmas and controversies about the way that lives of elderly people are shaped by patterns of power It is about politics in the broadest sense and about old age as a contested part of contemporary social life The author applies ideas about power and ageism in specific areas such as lifestyles personal identity appearance and intergenerational conflicts as well as pensioners movements party politics and elections He includes original research on the social construction and negotiation of identity in old age and brings together material from a range of British American and European studies of relevance to the theme of politics and old age Throughout he explores global and historical trends in ageing but relates these to personal dilemmas and interpersonal relationships The book is interdisciplinary and its challenging ideas will appeal to a broad range of students academics and professionals with a common interest in ageing and the care and well being of the elderly The Road to Retirement Grant Schellenberg,Canadian Council on Social Development. Centre for International Statistics,1994 This book attempts to document the ongoing and especially the most recent transformation of retirement in Canadian society Such transformation is coming about because of such factors as the growing number of women retirees changing economic conditions types of jobs being created involuntary or early retirement and restrained government spending The book examines changes in the transition to retirement along three dimensions the timing of retirement and specifically the trend toward retirement at younger ages the process of retirement sometimes preceded by a period of unemployment or non standard employment and the financing of retirement including the sources of income and the distribution of income among retiree groups Discourse and Lifespan Identity Nikolas Coupland,John F. Nussbaum,1993-09-10 This book sculpts a new direction for sociolinguistics inasmuch as it incorporates lifespan studies into the realm of language and context It makes us realize that our senses of who we are is a conglomerate of several different dimensions temporal social linguistic Studies in Second Language Acquisition The editors of this volume have successfully put together a group of articles which address the role of language in creating our developing self by attempting to answer how our identity is achieved across the lifespan through the use of language in relationships Language in Society The volume's strengths include clear illustration of the role of discourse in constituting self especially with regard to aging evidence overturning the hegemony of rigid life stage cycle models for understanding lifespan development and presentation of innovative methods for lifespan research The volume offers insightful contributions to discourse studies of the lifespan Discourse Society This is a fascinating book in the Sage Language and Language Behavior series Although it is written primarily for researchers and theoreticians in sociology and linguistics there is application to child and adult development gerontology oral history and even family systems theory This introduction to lifespan sociolinguistics is both clear and compelling Clinical Gerontologist How are social development maturation aging stability and change reflected in human interaction and in social contexts How where and when does age surface as a theme in everyday talk What social rituals endorse our accepted views of coming of age turning forty entering retirement or generally acting our age What can language achieve for us A multidisciplinary cast of contributors answers such questions through empirical studies and theoretical interpretations Provocative and accessibly written this volume explores discursive practices in which age related identities are formulated challenged or consolidated From mother daughter relationships to marital communication Discourse and Lifespan Identity takes a dynamic view of lifespan development in today s culture Discourse and Lifespan Identity offers valuable information to students and professionals of interpersonal communication speech communication social psychology developmental psychology aging and sociology

Developments and Research on Aging Erdman Ballagh Palmore,1993-04-20 This major reference is a substantially revised edition of Palmore s International Handbook on Aging which was voted Choice Outstanding Academic Book of 1980 The reference collects and summarizes information on programs and research in gerontology in most countries where significant work is taking place The chapters are arranged alphabetically with each chapter devoted to a particular country The countries selected represent a wide range of social political geographic and economic conditions and ten new countries are included in this edition Each chapter provides current information on the unique features of the country profiled the roles and status of the aged problems of the elderly programs for older adults research in biomedical psychological and sociological aspects of aging and sources of additional information Each chapter closes with a list of works for further consultation and the handbook concludes with an appendix of gerontological associations and a bibliography Gerontologists social scientists and policymakers will find this reference a valuable and current guide to developments and research on aging around the world

The Lifespan Guy R. Lefrançois,1993 This fascinating text provides a comprehensive overview of human development from conception until death The text is arranged chronologically as most Lifespan courses are taught It blends solid theory with clever illustrations and lively examples that hold the students attention Lefrancois engaging friendly writing style and use of humor keeps the student interested This edition has over 500 new references for cultural timeliness and added pedagogical features to make it accessible and technologically updated

Connecting Gender and Ageing Sara Arber,Jay Ginn,1995 Contributors use a feminist perspective to explore the impact of ageing on gender roles in the workplace and in retirement in marital and other relationships in community support networks and in older women s own perceptions A range of research approaches are used including qualitative studies giving a voice to older women A concluding chapter draws out the implications of the book

Social Policy and Elderly People Frank Laczko,Christina R. Victor,1991 The community care White Paper Caring for People indicates a radical change in this important element of social policy The White Paper raises many issues about the way in which social care will be planned and delivered in future decades This book which is based upon 10 papers delivered at the British Society of Gerontology Annual Conference examines aspects of the community care reforms as they effect older people the largest single consumers of social care services
