Foreign Language and Culture Learning from a Dialogic

Perspective Carol Morgan, Albane Cain, 2000 This book analyses an intercultural project undertaken by French and English 14 year olds based on an exchange of materials created by the pupils and focused on the topic of law and order. The project was based on a view of learning as a dialogic process interacting with others. A first language and home culture is acquired through such interaction. This project sought to realise this dialogic process in a more meaningful way than is often the case in foreign language classrooms. Beyond Listening Alison Clark, Peter Moss, Anne Trine Kjørholt, 2005 More young children than ever before are spending their time in some form of early childhood service. But how do we know what they think about it? While there has been a move to take children's views into account more generally very little attention has been given to listening to young children below the age of six or seven. This book is the first of its kind to focus on listening to young children both from an international perspective and through combining theory, practice and reflection. With contributions and examples from researchers and practitioners in six countries it examines critically how listening to young children in early childhood services is understood and practised. Each chapter is rooted in the everyday lives of young children and presents a range of actual experiences for students and practitioners to draw from. Beyond listening goes further to address key questions emerging from early childhood services and research. These are: What do we mean by listening? Why listen? How do we listen to young children? What view of the child do different approaches to listening presume? What risks does listening entail for young children? The authors are leading experts in this area of rapidly growing interest and have themselves developed innovative methods such as the Mosaic approach which is discussed in the book. Identity, Motivation and Autonomy in

Language Learning Harold Murray, Xuesong Gao, Terry Lamb, 2011 Through the use of qualitative research methods the authors explore the complex, contingent and dynamic nature of motivation, identity and autonomy both for language learners and teachers in many different parts of the world. Importantly they also look for relationships among the three constructs. This is precisely the integrative approach that should be encouraged as we seek to understand the lived experience of individuals. Diane Larsen Freeman, University of Michigan USA. Realizing Autonomy Kay Irie, Alison Stewart, 2011-11-25 Realizing Autonomy: Practice and Reflection in Language Education Contexts presents critical practitioner research into innovative approaches to language learner autonomy. Writing about experiences in a range of widely differing contexts the authors offer fresh insights and perspectives on the challenges and contradictions of learner autonomy. New

Perspectives on Teaching and Learning Modern Languages Simon Green,2000 This book featuring chapters from the foremost practitioners in the field of modern languages closely examines research based analysis structural contexts and classroom practice in teaching and learning It provides much needed fresh thinking on methodology and pedagogy
