Labyrinths Of The Delta:

Labyrinths of the Delta Tanure Ojaide, 1986 New Trends & Generations in African Literature Eldred D. Jones, Marjorie Jones, 1996 Professor Eldred Jones says African literature continues to be intensely political and seems destined to remain so for some time The writers are in the thick of the fight for the true liberation of their countries a position which is still fraught with dangers He believes that it is possible to distinguish in the literatures of most countries pre independence from post independence literature but only as trends rather than as sudden dramatic breaks The articles in this collection point up The increasing importance of women writers that war produces a significant change in focus and the growth of literature of protest against the misuse of independence Professor Jones says South African writers will now have to emerge from the dominating theme of apartheid into close examination of humanity in a free society The military phenomenon has provided Nigerian writers with a succession of sub periods in their literary history Publisher's description

African Literatures in the Eighties, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print Ken Saro-Wiwa Craig W. McLuckie, Aubrey McPhail, 2000 The authors examine Saro Wiwa's literary output both in terms of literary criticism and within a political framework They give equal attention to his more public roles including public reaction within Nigeria to his work BOOK JACKET
