

TYPES of ATTENTION GETTERS for your SPEECH

Personal Story

A story from your own life that connects your topic to your own experience

Example:

One time when I was about four years old, the family dog bit me on the finger. It hurt, but I realized that the reason the dog did it was because he was scared of me. I had been chasing the dog with a broom and had him cornered. He viewed me as a threat. Even at a young age, I was in tune to what this dog was feeling. From that point on, I've made it my mission to take care of animals

Rhetorical Question

A question that you don't expect an answer to, but that causes your audience to think.

Example:

Think about it: When you were four, did you know what you wanted to be when you grew up? Has it changed at all since then? By the time I was four, I already knew that I wanted to be a veterinarian. I'm fifteen now, and I can't imagine that my mind will ever change ...

Humor

A little joke or short anecdote that ties in to your topic.

Example:

Q: What does a turtle do on it's birthday?

A: It shellebrates!

Q: What kind of photos does a turtle take?

A: Shellifies.

Q: What happens when you bring a turtle to a party?

A: It becomes a shellebration.

Today, I'm going to tell you a little bit about myself, including how I ended up with a 150 piece turtle collection ...
