Singing The Psyche--Uniting Thought and Feeling Through the Voice
Anne M. Brownell, Deirdre A. Brownell, Gina Holloway Mulder, 2023-10-16

This book is about the use of vocal sound melody and rhythm to increase one's sense of self and presence with others and how to facilitate this process. We discover how the ten vocal principles and four non vocal principles of Voice Movement Therapy work together uniting in a single purpose to facilitate a more embodied flexible durable and versatile voice. Singing the Psyche Uniting Thought and Feeling Through the Voice provides a basic understanding of Voice Movement Therapy and how it uses both spontaneous vocalization and the creation and performance of song integrated with active body movement to increase expressive and communicative skills. First hand practitioner experiences offer a compelling and fascinating account of how our voices hold a core intelligence that can transform our lives from constriction to freedom and from trauma to compassionate understanding. Perfect for anyone dedicated to unlocking the therapeutic power of the voice this book is an invaluable tool for therapists counselors singing teachers speech and drama instructors and speech language pathologists. It's also a must have for academic institutions offering creative arts therapies courses music and drama conservatories and parents and organizations supporting children with special needs and hidden disabilities.

What people say: As an artist and writer I and my friends in many different disciplines are well acquainted with creative blocks both in art and in life. When a friend suggested that I may be interested in reviewing a book on Voice Movement Therapy I said Well OK expecting to read an informative but unexciting tome. To my delight this book clearly explains the basic principles of VMT in the first chapter then presents five chapters of case studies by VMT practitioners who work with human situations worldwide read like stories. It is a great read and so interesting that I called a musician friend and read one of the stories aloud.

Jo Walters Visual Artist and Writer MA MFA University of California Berkeley

This comprehensive volume will enhance therapists educators caregivers and parents understanding of the intricacies of using our voices for expression and communication. Through practical guidelines woven together with current interdisciplinary practices theory and research Anne Brownell and colleagues creatively decode the language of vocal expression.

Self-Motivation for Professional Practitioners Dennis H. Reid, 2022-04-04

For professional practitioners in the human services to successfully fulfill their important job roles they must be highly motivated. In many human service agencies however practitioners encounter situations that can seriously impede their motivation to work diligently as well as reduce their enjoyment on the job. For example working with limited resources unrealistic caseloads problematic supervision or interfering events beyond an agency's control e.g the COVID 19 pandemic can all reduce practitioner motivation and work enjoyment. This book describes how human service practitioners can achieve and maintain self motivation to be professionally productive and experience enjoyment on the job during both the best and worst of times Self motivation is presented in terms of practitioners actively using strategies developed through research and application in behavior analysis and therapy to promote their work productivity and enjoyment Self motivation strategies presented are likewise based on the specific advice of highly successful practitioners in the human services Some strategies presented are robust in nature in that they can be applied across varying situations to promote self motivation and enhance overall quality of work life Other strategies are more situation specific being tailored to overcoming particular obstacles to motivation that practitioners often face in human service agencies The intent of this book is to provide practical information that effectively equips practitioners to be in control of their work motivation and thereby work consistently in a manner that is professionally productive and personally enjoyable
