Becoming Something Metaphysics Consciousness:

Metaphysics Theodor W. Adorno, Rolf Tiedemann, 2002-10-01 This volume makes available in English for the first time the famed lectures on metaphysics by one of the founders of the Frankfurt School of Critical Theory and one of the most influential thinkers of the 20th century. It provides a unique introduction not only to metaphysics but also to Adorno's own intellectual standpoint. A Metaphysics for Freedom Helen Steward, 2012-03-08

A Metaphysics for Freedom argues that agency itself and not merely the special distinctively human variety of it is incompatible with determinism. For determinism is threatened just as surely by the existence of powers which can be unproblematically accorded to many sorts of animals as by the distinctively human powers on which the free will debate has tended to focus. She suggests that a tendency to approach the question of free will solely through the issue of moral responsibility has obscured the fact that there is a quite different route to incompatibilism based on the idea that animal agents above a certain level of complexity possess a range of distinctive two-way powers not found in simpler substances. Determinism is not a doctrine of physics but of metaphysics and the idea that it is physics which will tell us whether our world is deterministic or not presupposes what must not be taken for granted: that is that physics settles everything else and that we are already in a position to say that there could be no irreducibly top-down forms of causal influence. Steward considers questions concerning supervenience, laws and levels of explanation and explores an outline of a variety of top-down causation which might sustain the idea that an animal itself rather than merely events and states going on in its parts might be able to bring something about. The resulting position permits certain important concessions to compatibilism to be made and a convincing response is also offered to the charge that even if it is agreed that determinism is incompatible with agency, indeterminism can be of no possible help. The whole is an argument for a distinctive and resolutely non-dualistic naturalistically respectable version of libertarianism rooted in a conception of what biological forms of organisation might make possible in the way of freedom. Derrida on Being as

Presence David A. White, 2017-04-24 Jacques Derrida's extensive early writings devoted considerable attention to being as presence, the reality underlying the history of metaphysics. In Derrida on Being as Presence: Questions and Quests, David A. White develops the intricate conceptual structure of this notion by close exegetical readings drawn from these writings. White discusses cardinal concepts in Derrida's revamping of theoretical considerations pertaining to language, signification, context, negation, iterability, as these considerations depend on the structure of being as presence and also as they ground deconstructive reading. White's appraisal raises questions invoking a range of problems. He deploys these questions in conjunction with thematically related quests that arise given Derrida's conviction that the history of metaphysics as variations on being as presence has concealed and skewed vital elements of reality. White inflects this critical apparatus concerning being as presence with texts drawn from that history, e.g. by Plato, Aristotle, Bacon, Hume, Kant, Whitehead. The essay concludes with a speculative ensemble of provisional categories or zones of specificity. Implementing these categories will ground the possibility that philosophy in general and metaphysics in particular can be pursued in ways which acknowledge the relevance of Derrida's thought when integrated with the philosophical enterprise as traditionally understood      Brains and how to Get Them Christian Daa Larson,1914      Philosophy and Religion Axel

The Artist-Philosopher in the Age of Addiction George Smith,2025-03-17 George Smith argues that modern humanity suffers from a late stage pre fatal addiction to scientific technological thinking Like most pre fatal addictions this one will most likely result in one of three ways misery extinction or human transformation The question remains wherein lies the third way According to Smith mankind's chronic and as yet undiagnosed sickness originates in early Western metaphysics and has long been thoroughly globalized It explains unstoppable extractionism and its relentlessly increasing by product carbon dioxide It also explains today's ever increasing rate of species extinction and the increasingly likely collapse of the biosphere Citing climate change tolerance and denial as symptomatic of pre fatal addiction Smith turns his analysis to Heidegger's question concerning technology and shows that even Heidegger had become hooked on scientific technological thinking Surrendering to his disease Heidegger steps back into meditative thought This in turn opens Heidegger to an East West mode of scientific poetic consciousness the thinking of artist philosophers such as Laozi Herderlin and Rachel Carson For Heidegger this way of thinking lays the path to mankind's transformative emancipation from an otherwise inescapable catastrophe The book will be of interest to scholars of the arts and culture histories of consciousness and climate studies
