fairyland out of anything and nothing But the art of writing fairy tales seems to be another thing that has vanished with the vanished childhood of the race The best fairy tales are always the old ones stories that were never really written but just grew in the telling as they passed down through generations of fireside evenings They were told or enjoyed by grown men and women in an earlier more naive age and they never lose their appeal to the child in us as to the children around us now As to new fairy stories well Mr Andrew Lang the untiring editor who makes it possible to unearth new old stories every year and dress them out in a new colour of raiment for the Christmas tree says some very unkind things of them in his latest offering The Lilac Fairy Book The three hundred and sixty five authors who try to write new fairy tales are very tiresome he says Their fairies try to be funny and fail or they try to preach and succeed Real fairies never preach or talk slang nobody can write a new fairy tale the thing is impossible The tenor of Mr Lang's reproach of modern writers of fairy tales is that they attempt to write just for children and therefore fail Possibly he may be right But we will forgive him his feeling against the writers who prefer to write rather than to edit for the sake of the fine new old stories he has found for us here It is really astonishing how Mr Lang goes on unearthing so many new stories new old is what we mean every year Some of the stories in this new book have come from Ireland some from the Highlands of Scotland some from wild Wales Some from far off Asia others from Portugal still others from the frozen North The majority of them have what the true fairy story should always have enough of the marvellous to keep us guessing enough of humour to show us that we aren't expected really to believe it all and the delightful disregard of conventional behaviour which characterises the doings in Fairyland For if it were not so why go to Fairyland at all The equipment of the book is as dainty as usual even more so if possible on account of the delicacy of the chosen colour And a word of sincere praise is due the charming illustrations by H J Ford If the imagination of the modern writer cannot achieve a new fairy tale the modern painter can at least understand the old stories and awaken them to new life for us This book is fully illustrated and annotated with a rare extensive biographical sketch of the author Andrew Lang written by Sir Edmund Gosse CB a contemporary poet and writer
