Voluntary associations have been ubiquitous in our society for hundreds of years Efforts to develop a classification scheme have often overlooked one important segment membership based organizations MBOs MBOs are created voluntarily by a group of like minded individuals who seek to advance their interests by organizing to promote and protect a specific domain A number have earned the reputation for operating as special interests To accept that notion would not be telling the full story and would overlook the many contributions they have made A central thesis of Special Interest Society How Membership based Organizations Shape America is that no modern democratic society can function without them With a focus on how they emerge and the steps they take to advance their mutual interests the book also provides a sober account of how MBOs can be slow to accept important and necessary changes It also reveals the less flattering role they have played in denying access or limiting acceptance to eligible individuals based on their race gender ethnicity and more In Special Interest Society James R Hudson analyzes over 400 published histories of MBOs to report on their emergence growth and development Many provide essential services within our society of which we are unaware that we have come to rely upon Employing several sociological theories he explains why their actions have enabled these organizations to thrive in a democratic society as well as affect significant social change Throughout he demonstrates how open and democratic societies provide a fertile ground for their continued emergence He explains why their numbers have increased over the last two hundred years as occupations and personal interests have become more specialized and complex Written for students and scholars working in sociology public policy business community development and nonprofit management as well as association professionals and their staff this book provides an unparalleled insight into the history purpose and challenges of associations in America The Grand Rapids Furniture Record ,1929 Annual Report of the Factory Inspectors of the State of New York for the Year Ending ... New York (State). The history of American silver offers invaluable insights into the economic and cultural history of the nation itself Published here for the first time the Art Institute of Chicago's superb collection embodies innovation and beauty from the colonial era to the present. In the 17th century silversmiths brought the fashions of their homelands to the colonies and in the early 18th new forms arose as technology diversified production. Demand increased in the 19th century as the Industrial Revolution took hold. In the 20th modernism changed the shape of silver inside and outside the home. This beautifully illustrated volume presents highlights from the collection with stunning photography and entries from leading specialists. In depth essays relate a fascinating story about eating, drinking and entertaining that spans the history of the Republic and trace the development of the Art Institute's holdings of American silver over nearly a century.
