American LaFrance 400 Series Walter M. P. McCall, 2007 Powered by the company's industry leading V 12 engine the 400 Series Metropolitan with its long gracefully tapered hood skirted fenders classically proportioned gabled radiator and oversized wheels was a triumph of industrial design an eye pleasing blend of form and function and the industry's first truly styled fire engine This authoritative thoroughly researched and richly illustrated book documents the big 400's relatively short but spectacular production life from its introduction in late 1934 through the last two assembled from the parts bin in early 1940

American LaFrance 500/600 Series Walter McCall, 2008-05-15 The 1930s was the decade of style an era of streamlining and bold futuristic art deco design that influenced the look of everything from jewelry furniture and skyscrapers to locomotives ships automobiles and Fire engines Calendar year 1938 was an epochal one for new product development by America's largest manufacturer of motor fire apparatus as the company introduced its first hydraulically operated all steel aerial ladder along with the industry's first compact cab forward aerial ladder truck But the biggest news that eventful year was its ultra streamlined 500 Series fire apparatus With its dramatically clean styling the art deco 500 Series suddenly made everything else look old fashioned This authoritative superbly researched and lavishly illustrated book documents the American LaFrance 500 and 600 Series remarkable nine year production run from the late 1930s through the years immediately following the Second World War In addition to the big 500 600 Series the book also covers the lesser known junior edition B 500 and B 600 Series Long overdue this exciting compendium is the only book ever devoted exclusively to this controversial series and completes another fascinating chapter in American LaFrance history
