Beyond the Wall Edward Abbey, 1984-04-15 In this wise and lyrical book about landscapes of the desert and the mind Edward Abbey guides us beyond the wall of the city and asphalt belting of superhighways to special pockets of wilderness that stretch from the interior of Alaska to the dry lands of Mexico

Beyond Great Walls Dee Mack Williams, 2002 This is an ethnographic study of a community of Mongolian herders who have been undergoing dramatic environmental and social transformations since 1980 It provides a rare window of observation into a fascinating and important though remote and relatively understudied region of modern China and documents some of the unintended harmful consequences of decollectivization and economic development Initially the book presents a case study of land degradation and shows how competing social and cultural forces at the local national and international level actively shape that process More broadly it focuses on local experiences of modernization and the ways that marginalized people creatively appropriate alien technologies to serve their own ethnic identity and cultural renewal The book aims to deepen our understanding of environmental change as a social process by exploring significant tensions between such symbolic dichotomies as Chinese Mongol farmer herder private collective development conservation Western Asian and scientific indigenous It argues that the reconstruction of local landscape cannot be separated from the social context of economic insecurity and political fear nor from the cultural context of group identity and environmental symbolism Ideologically informed perceptions of the land prove to be highly relevant in both shaping and contesting international development agendas national grassland policies and the daily practices of local production In presenting the full range of material and symbolic stakes now in play on the Chinese grasslands the book demonstrates that human land interactions involve social dimensions on a global scale of widely underestimated complexity Throughout the author draws from his extensive fieldwork to enrich his study with poignant and sometimes humorous anecdotes and biographical sketches

Beyond Naturalness David N. Cole, Laurie Yung, 2012-06-22 The central concept guiding the management of parks and wilderness over the past century has been naturalness to a large extent the explicit purpose in establishing these special areas was to keep them in their natural state But what does that mean particularly as the effects of stressors such as habitat fragmentation altered disturbance regimes pollution invasive species and climate change become both more pronounced and more pervasive Beyond Naturalness brings together leading scientists and policymakers to explore the concept of naturalness its varied meanings and the extent to which it provides adequate guidance regarding where when and how managers should intervene in ecosystem processes to protect park and wilderness values The main conclusion is the idea that naturalness will continue to provide an important touchstone for protected area conservation but that more specific goals and objectives are needed to guide stewardship The issues considered in Beyond Naturalness are central not just to conservation of parks but to many areas of ecological thinking including the fields of conservation biology and ecological restoration and represent the cutting edge of discussions of both values and practice in the twenty first century This book offers excellent writing and focus along with remarkable clarity of thought on some of the difficult questions being raised in light of new and changing stressors such as global environmental climate change Blessed by Light Stephen Trimble, 1986 Glen Canyon Dammed Jared Farmer, 1999 Focusing on the saddening maddening example of Glen Canyon Jared Farmer traces the history of exploration and development in the Four Corners region discusses the role of tourism in changing the face of the West and shows how the invention of Lake Powell has served multiple needs He also seeks to identify the point at which change becomes loss How do people deal with losing places they love How are we to remember or restore lost places BOOK JACKET Telos ,2007 Literature for Today's Young Adults Kenneth L.
