This book presents the concepts, strategies and decision making processes of supply chain and operations management through simple to advanced analytics. It provides the tools necessary to comprehend supply chain and operations management quantitatively and analytically through exercises and examples. Using accessible quantitative models, the volume provides a unified framework for supply chain analytics for products right from sourcing to manufacturing to delivery and remanufacturing which closes the supply chain. The book synthesizes a collection of models in all areas of the supply chain such as sourcing, inventory, production planning and control, forecasting of demand, transportation network planning and design, data aggregation and mining and the return of products in the context of both the formulation and solution of the problems in each area using suitable software and Excel Solver for ease of understanding. The use of simulation and stochastic and system design models are added attractions of the book. This book will be useful to students, researchers and faculty working in the field of supply chain management, operations management and industrial engineering both at graduate and research levels. It will also be an invaluable companion to consultants and practitioners working with models and modelling systems helping them to make better supply chain decisions.

Phase II Helmut T. Zwahlen, 2009. This project contains three major parts. In the first part, a digital computer simulation model was developed with the aim to model the traffic through a freeway work zone situation. The model was based on the Arena simulation software and used cumulative interarrival times as the input. Its aim was to determine the traffic volumes through the work zone and the queue lengths in advance of lane restrictions. The program was designed to handle up to 15 miles in length, up to six lanes and up to 20 entrance and exit ramps. The developed program has not been validated due to the lack of reliable field data and the program appears to produce unreasonably short queue lengths and low exit ramp traffic counts compared to the input traffic data for cases where the exit ramps are spaced closely together. In the second part, a diversion analysis was performed to determine the effects of closed ramps. The work zone sites were assigned by Ohio Department of Transportation and the diversion effects for these situations were in one case very minimal and in the other case as expected traffic shifted to the next open exit ramp. In the third part, guidelines for ramp management and ramp metering were established on a 24/7 basis giving special considerations to freeway mainline throughput and local traffic access to freeway.

Resources in Education, 1980-04      Service Oriented, Holonic and Multi-Agent Manufacturing Systems for Industry of the Future Theodor Borangiu, Damien Trentesaux, Paulo Leitão, Olivier Cardin, Samir Lamouri, 2021-03-02. The scientific theme of the book concerns Manufacturing as a Service (MaaS) which is developed in a layered cloud networked manufacturing perspective from the shop floor resource sharing model to the virtual enterprise collaborative model by distributing the cost of the manufacturing infrastructure, equipment, software, maintenance, networking across all customers. MaaS is approached in terms of new models of service oriented knowledge based manufacturing systems optimized and reality aware that deliver value to customer and manufacturer via Big data analytics Internet of Things communications Machine learning and Digital twins embedded in Cyber Physical System frameworks From product design to after sales services MaaS relies on the servitization of manufacturing operations such as Design as a Service Predict as a Service or Maintain as a service The general scope of the book is to foster innovation in smart and sustainable manufacturing and logistics systems and in this context to promote concepts methods and solutions for the digital transformation of manufacturing through service orientation in holonic and agent based control with distributed intelligence The book s readership is comprised by researchers and engineers working in the manufacturing value chain area who develop and use digital control solutions in the Industry of the Future vision The book also addresses to master and Ph D students enrolled in Engineering Sciences programs

Work Zone Simulation Model T. H. Maze, Ali Kamyab, 1999 To support the analysis of driver behavior at rural freeway work zone lane closure merge points Center for Transportation Research and Education staff collected traffic data at merge areas using video image processing technology The collection of data and the calculation of the capacity of lane closures are reported in a companion report Traffic Management Strategies for Merge Areas in Rural Interstate Work Zones These data are used in the work reported in this document and are used to calibrate a microscopic simulation model of a typical Iowa rural freeway lane closure The model developed is a high fidelity computer simulation with an animation interface It simulates traffic operations at a work zone lane closure This model enables traffic engineers to visually demonstrate the forecasted delay that is likely to result when freeway reconstruction makes it necessary to close freeway lanes Further the model is also sensitive to variations in driver behavior and is used to test the impact of slow moving vehicles and other driver behaviors This report consists of two parts The first part describes the development of the work zone simulation model The simulation analysis is calibrated and verified through data collected at a work zone in Interstate Highway 80 in Scott County Iowa The second part is a user s manual for the simulation model which is provided to assist users with its set up and operation No prior computer programming skills are required to use the simulation model
