Abjectly Boundless Trudy Rudge, 2016-03-16 Within a variety of practice environments health professionals often experience feelings of disgust and repulsion towards the presence of an abject object Cadaverous sick disabled bodies troubled minds wounds vomit and so forth are all part of health and care work and threaten the clean and proper bodies of those who undertake it yet this unclean side of health work is rarely accounted for in academic literature This volume employs the work of Julia Kristeva through a range of case studies drawn from care and nursing settings around the world It brings together work from researchers and practitioners within the social and health sciences the caring professions and psychotherapy to expose and highlight the important impact of the concept of abjection

which historically has been silenced in the health sciences

Phenomenology of Life - From the Animal Soul to the Human Mind Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2007-08-14 The challenge presented by the recent tendencies to naturalize phenomenology on the basis of the progress in biological and neurological sciences calls for an investigation of the traditional mind body problem The progress in phenomenological investigation is up to answering that challenge by placing the issues at stake upon a novel platform that is the ontopoiesis of life
