

and the 1990s. Although the environmental movement has been a driving force in many countries, the impact of environmentalism on the economy has been limited. In some cases, environmental policies have led to job losses and economic decline. In others, they have helped to create new industries and job opportunities. The environmental movement has also been instrumental in raising awareness of the need for sustainable development, which is essential for long-term economic growth and stability. The environmental movement has been a powerful force for change, and its influence will continue to grow in the years ahead.
