Australian Architecture Now:

Australian Architecture Now Davina Jackson, Chris Johnson, 2000 Having just completed the most significant five year construction phase in the nation's history Australian architecture has moved into the world spotlight During the 1994-99 boom creative vigor was palpable confidence surged and the entire continent became endowed with a new sense of architectural independence Because it scans a diverse and momentary scene instead of recording a longer continuum of major achievements Australian Architecture Now is an unusual history book It presents two essays 21 case studies of outstanding public and domestic projects and in several brief chapters compares selected buildings according to similarities of either genre or style Close examination reveals surprising evidence that Australian architecture more often reflects the personal styles and attitudes of its creators than the poetic ideal of a unique sense of place Architects featured include Denton Corker Marshall Harry Seidler Gabriel Poole Rex Addison Peter Stutchbury Cox Sanderson Ness Nonda Katsalidis Sean Godsell Alexander Tzannes and more Australia Harry Margalit, 2019-11-15 This book tells the story of the architects and buildings that have defined Australia's architectural culture since the founding of the modern nation through Federation in 1901 That year marked the beginning of a search for better city forms and buildings to accommodate the changing realities of Australian life and to express an emerging distinctive and eventually confident Australian identity While Sydney and Melbourne were the settings for many of the major buildings all states and territories developed architectural traditions based on distinctive histories and climates Harry Margalit explores the flowering of these many architectural variants from the bid to create a model city in Canberra through the stylistic battles that opened a space for modernism to the idealism of postwar reconstruction and beyond to the new millennium Australia reveals a vibrant and influential culture of the built environment at its best when it matches civic idealism with the sensuality of a country of stunning light and landscapes

Geoffrey London, Philip Goad, Conrad Hamann, 2017 Architect designed houses of the period 1950-65 proposed an innovative response to the social economic and climatic conditions of post war Australia At the same time they embraced the aesthetic technological and egalitarian aspirations of modern architecture An Unfinished Experiment in Living traces the emergence of this architectural phenomenon in Australia documenting the full range of its expression from the postwar optimism of the early 1950s through to the affluence of the 1960s It is a catalogue of the most significant houses of the period It includes comprehensive plans and period photographs of 150 houses from around Australia dating from a time when the great Australian dream was the single family house This book puts forward new research founded on the premise that the most significant houses of the 1950s and 60s represent an unfinished and undervalued experiment in modern living Issues such as the open plan the changing nature of the family the embrace of advances in technology the use of the courtyard and the orientation of the house to capture sun and privacy were valuable and critical lessons This is a compelling reminder of their continuing relevance Subject Architecture Design Australian History Sociology Architecture in Australia, 1963

Architects Today Kester Rattenbury, Robert Bevan, Kieran Long, 2006-08-10 This volume offers both an introduction to and an insight into key contemporary architects as well as giving a snapshot of the varied nature of architecture today For each architect there are details of their life and work and illustrations of their most representative and iconic buildings

Museum, Gallery and Cultural Architecture in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Region Michael J. Ostwald, Steven Fleming, 2007 This collection of essays examines a number of major pieces of architecture constructed in Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific region considering common traits and attempting to offer a hermeneutical framework for engaging Antipodean cultural architecture This work should appeal to scholars interested in architectural studies urban design museology and cultural theory countries throughout the South Pacific have displayed a particular fascination with the possibility that architecture may be able to embody regional cultural identity centers that have been constructed in Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific regions The majority of these buildings landscapes or structures have been completed in the last few years and all have employed different architectural strategies to shape their designs This collection of nine critical essays by leading scholars of contemporary architecture provides an important survey and assessment of Antipodean cultural architecture Emphasizing common traits the introduction to the text asks how this phenomenon might be understood and why it may be relevant in different regions around the world Acknowledging the pluralistic nature of Antipodean architecture the conclusion offers an alternative hermeneutical framework one that accepts the fragmentary nature of the contemporary cultural landscape Meanjin Vol 83, No 2 Esther Anatolitis, 2024-06-14 Meanjin writers diagnose an Australian democracy in trouble challenging us to activate as critical thinkers and citizens and playing with our expectations of what comes next Not one constitution but three constitutions in a trenchcoat is an incisive
