Rebuilding Sustainable Communities with Vulnerable Populations after the Cameras Have Gone Adenrele Awotona, 2012-03-15 This volume focuses on the status of the elderly and the disabled after disasters globally as well as the challenges of post-earthquake rebuilding in Haiti. The International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies has estimated that between 1987 and 2007 about 26 million older people were affected each year by natural disasters alone and that this figure could more than double by 2050 due to the rapidly changing demographics of ageing People with disabilities physical medical sensory or cognitive are equally at risk of utter neglect during and after disasters The Australian Agency for International Development estimates that 650 million people across the world have a disability and about 80 per cent of them live in developing countries Similarly before the January 2010 earthquake Haiti was a country with tremendous development needs and numerous impediments to development according to Congresswoman Maxine Waters when introducing a Resolution in the US House of Representatives to cancel Haiti's debts in March 2007 These impediments included an overwhelming burden of international debt lack of personal and community assets and very little or no internal and external capacities all of which have been exacerbated by the aftermath of the earthquake It was against this background that the Center for Rebuilding Sustainable Communities after Disasters at the University of Massachusetts Boston organized two international Conferences in 2010 in April on Rebuilding Sustainable Communities in Haiti in the wake of the January Earthquake and in July on Rebuilding Sustainable Communities with the Elderly and Disabled People after Disasters This edited book consists of selected papers that were presented at these academic events The topics include Disaster Experiences of the Elderly and the Disabled in Nigeria The Vulnerability of Elderly People in the Aftermath of Earthquakes in Iran Methods for Assessing and Developing Understanding of Resiliency in Communities The Tuareg's traditional Shelter for Disaster Mitigation and Reconstruction in Libya and People with Disabilities in Haiti Before and After the 2010 Earthquake Connecting After Chaos Stephen F. Ostertag,2023-07-11 Connecting After Chaos tells the story of how people restore their lives and society in the months and years after disaster and the power of culture when reality and truth are built upon quicksand

Recovering From Catastrophes Peter May,1985-06-07 This book examines the evolution of federal disaster relief policy assesses problems with current policy and provides an understanding of the issues likely to be involved in future deliberations about federal policy While examining its formulation May describes this policy making in two different political environments the charged atmosphere immediately following the catastrophe and secondly the calm between catastrophes Local state and federal government conflicts are illustrated in a case study of Mount St Helens intergovernmental partnerships in this arena are discussed in relation to other relief efforts May stresses the political implications of disaster relief in his analysis of the electoral benefits and influence politicians derive from their attempts to influence federal disaster relief efforts Finally he addresses the economic considerations and future directions for federal disaster relief policy Three distinct policy approaches and their tradeoffs provide an overview of the options for future policy making Cities and Disaster Richard Terry Sylves,William L. Waugh,1989 After the Hurricane Philip R. Berke,Timothy Beatley,1997-12-26 Drawing on three years of extensive field research on Jamaica Antigua Montserrat and St Kitts and Nevis Berke and Beatley offer detailed analysis of the effects of two recent major hurricanes Gilbert in 1988 and Hugo in 1989 While focusing on postdisaster recovery the authors also explore the opportunities offered by the recovery period for strengthening local institutions to provide for long term social economic and physical development      Natural Disasters and Cultural Responses ,1986

Rebuilding Sustainable Communities for Children and their Families after Disasters Adenrele

Awotona,2009-12-14 Disasters impose enormous misery on children the most vulnerable members of the community Records show that two million children have died as a direct consequence of armed conflict over the past decade Globally millions more have suffered death disease and dislocation as a result of such natural disasters as earthquakes droughts and floods And even when emergency relief is available permanent human damage remains all too often families fall apart women are assaulted and degraded and children are left to take care of themselves In November 2008 the Center for Rebuilding Sustainable Communities after Disasters at the University of Massachusetts Boston USA hosted an international conference to examine how to reconstruct sustainable communities that would be safe and secure for children and their families after disasters This volume collects some of the papers that were presented at the conference It is remarkable for the sheer assortment of topics covered These include the role of gender equality in alleviating poverty and assisting children their families and their communities after disasters war and child soldiers lessons from Hurricane Katrina and the Tsunami the nature of psychosocial resilience and its significance for managing mass emergencies disasters and terrorism and the promotion of human dignity in the creation of sustainable environments that empower families in the aftermath of disasters
