Drawing on a diverse range of texts, the cultural, social, aesthetic, and ethical implications of the genre are placed within the context of rapidly changing understandings of gender diversity. From the cinematic borderlands of independent film festivals to wider public recognition via digital technologies, the genre encompasses a diverse range of texts from short films, documentaries, experimental films, to feature films and narratives that range across life histories, narratives, and themes. The book presents transliteracy as an original theoretical approach to reading film representations of the Trans New Wave and combines it with a new theoretical concept of cinematic ethnogenesis to investigate how the genre emerged from specific communities and the reciprocal interaction of audiences and texts. This interdisciplinary volume engages with contemporary issues of gender diversity, transgender studies, screen and media studies, and film festival studies, and as such will be of great interest to scholars working in these fields and in media and cultural studies more generally. The War Against the BBC Patrick Barwise, Peter York, 2020-11-19 There's a war on against the BBC.
