for its authoritative military and historical references Under the direction of internationally known military historian Spencer Tucker ABC CLIO's The Encyclopedia of the Cold War: A Political, Social, and Military History offers the most current and comprehensive treatment ever published of the ideological conflict that not so long ago enveloped the globe From the Second World War to the collapse of the Soviet Union The Encyclopedia of the Cold War provides authoritative information on all military conflicts, battlefield and surveillance technologies, diplomatic initiatives, important individuals and organizations, national histories, economic developments, societal and cultural events, and more The nearly 1,300 entries, plus topical essays and an extraordinarily rich documents volume, draw heavily on recently opened Russian, Eastern European, and Chinese archives The work is a definitive cornerstone reference on one of the most important historical topics of our time

Beginnings of the Cold War Arms Race Raymond Ojserkis, 2003-12-30 The Truman administration's decision to embark on an arms build up in 1950 was a critical event For the first time other than a World War the United States became a global military presence Unlike the World Wars in this instance the deployment lasted decades, altering the nature of the Cold War and the United States' global role Such a decision deserves a book dedicated to understanding the strategy and politics behind it The Beginnings of the Cold War Arms Race serves that purpose The Beginnings of the Cold War Arms Race reviews the state of American military affairs in the late 1940s and describes the role of atomic power in American strategy It also outlines the factional fighting within the Truman administration over military spending and deployments and considers the Truman administration's perceptions of Soviet military power and intentions The author presents a fascinating account of the strategy and politics behind the Truman administration's decision to engage in a massive arms build up that initiated the Cold War arms race

Britain, America and Anti-Communist Propaganda 1945-53 Andrew Defty, 2013-12-02 In the Cold War battle for hearts and minds Britain was the first country to formulate a coordinated global response to communist propaganda In January 1948 the British government launched a new propaganda policy designed to oppose the inroads of communism by taking the offensive against it A small section in the Foreign Office, the innocuously titled Information Research Department (IRD), was established to collate information on communist policy, tactics and propaganda and coordinate the discreet dissemination of counter-propaganda to opinion formers at home and abroad

A Sense of Power John A. Thompson, 2015-12-04 Why has the United States assumed so extensive and costly a role in world affairs over the last hundred years? The two most common answers to this question are because it could and because it had to Neither answer will do according to this challenging re-assessment of the way that America came to assume its global role The country's vast economic resources gave it the capacity to exercise great influence abroad but Americans were long reluctant to meet the costs of wielding that power Neither the country's safety from foreign attack nor its economic well-being required the achievement of ambitious foreign policy objectives In A Sense of Power John A Thompson takes a long view of America s dramatic rise as a world power from the late nineteenth century into the post World War II era How and more importantly why has America come to play such a dominant role in world affairs There is he argues no simple answer Thompson challenges conventional explanations of America s involvement in World War I and World War II seeing neither the requirements of national security nor economic interests as determining He shows how American leaders from Wilson to Truman developed an ever more capacious understanding of the national interest and why by the 1940s most Americans came to support the price tag in blood and treasure attached to strenuous efforts to shape the world The beliefs and emotions that led them to do so reflected distinctive aspects of U S culture not least the strength of ties to Europe Consciousness of the nation s unique power fostered feelings of responsibility entitlement and aspiration among the people and leaders of the United States This original analysis challenges some widely held beliefs about the determinants of United States foreign policy and will bring new insight to contemporary debates about whether the nation should or must play so active a part in world politics

Harvest of Dissent Bruce E. Field,1998 Bruce Field here explores the people and events of a little studied episode in American history by describing how the leadership of the Farmers Union split over the Korean War When the organization was faced with accusations of being communist sympathizers NFU national president Jim Patton chose to support the war while a splinter group led by Iowa Farmers Union president Fred Stover continued to protest American involvement

Dorman, Thomas G. Otte, 1995 Truman and the Hiroshima Cult Robert P. Newman, 1995-07-31 The United States dropped atomic bombs on Japan in 1945 to end World War II as quickly and with as few casualties as possible That is the compelling and elegantly simple argument Newman puts forward in his new study of World War II s end Truman and the Hiroshima Cult According to Newman 1 The U S Strategic Bombing Survey conclusions that Japan was ready to surrender without the Bomb are fraudulent 2 America's unconditional surrender doctrine did not significantly prolong the war and 3 President Harry S Truman's decision to use atomic weapons on Japanese cities was not a racist act nor was it a calculated political maneuver to threaten Joseph Stalin's Eastern hegemony Simply stated Newman argues that Truman made a sensible military decision As commander in chief he was concerned with ending a devastating and costly war as quickly as possible and with saving millions of lives Yet Newman goes further in his discussion seeking the reasons why so much hostility has been generated by what happened in the skies over Hiroshima and Nagasaki in early August 1945 The source of discontent he concludes is a cult that has grown up in the United States since the 1960s It was weaned on the disillusionment spawned by concerns about a military industrial complex American duplicity and failure in the Vietnam War and a mistrust of government following Watergate The cult has a shrine a holy day a distinctive rhetoric of victimization various items of scripture and in Japan support from a powerful Marxist constituency As with other cults it is ahistorical Newman declares Its devotees elevate fugitive and unrepresentative events to cosmic status And most of all they believe Newman's analysis goes to the heart of the process by which scholars interpret historical events and raises disturbing issues about the way historians select and distort evidence about the past to suit special political agendas
