The Future of Inflight Entertainment in Europe, According to Passenger Expectations: Why Airlines Should Embrace Consumer Technology Jasmin Schawalder, 2014-04-15 Consumerization passengers toting their tablets laptops smartphones and e readers on planes has forced airlines to re think Should they continue to invest heavily into Inflight Entertainment IFE systems or just concentrate on offering Wi Fi and power in the cabin The goal of this research was to define the IFE offer of the future Four barriers that split the world into the three regions Europe Asia and USA in terms of IFE development were identified the cultural the commercial the technological and the legal barrier This book focuses on Europe which lags mostly behind with IFE out of these three regions For example as opposed to the US no major European airline offers inflight Wi Fi widely on its network and in contrast to leading Middle Eastern airlines none offers inflight live TV or the usage of mobile phones without restriction like on the ground The target was to define IFE from a consumer perspective To capture the latter the author evaluated consumer satisfaction methodologies and decided to go with the Kano approach which categorizes alternatives of a product or service in this case IFE in must be attractive and indifferent elements A representative online survey revealed movies and power to be must be TV and Wi Fi to be attractive and the rest e books music games and duty free onboard to be indifferent elements of IFE The majority of people indicated that they would pay for movies and Wi Fi but not for power supply TV or other content. Differently said, content wise passengers only insisted in the supply of movies for the rest they expected the airline to provide Internet and power so they themselves could get the content. Further sub groups were analysed people within the sample with mutual characteristics like gender, travel frequency or ownership of smart devices. So was music on a plane a must for women and owners of iPhones were more willing to pay for apps than others. Overall country of residence travel purpose.
