Accommodating Justice Statements Sentencing Process:

The Use of Victim Impact Statements in Sentencing for Sexual Offences Rhiannon Davies, Lorana Bartels, 2021-03-17

Drawing on extensive research from Australia this book examines the experiences of sexual offence victims who submit a victim impact statement. Victim impact statements are used in sentencing to outline the harm caused to victims. There has been little research on the impact statement experiences of sexual offence victims. This book fills this gap examining the perspectives of six adult female victims and 15 justice professionals in Australia. This is supplemented by analysis of 100 sentencing remarks revealing how courts use such statements in practice. This book examines victims' experiences of preparing and submitting statements, justice professionals' experiences of working with victims to submit statements, and the judicial use of impact statements in sentencing. It identifies an overarching lack of clarity around the purpose of impact statements which affects the information that can be included and the way they can be used by the court. It consequently explores issues associated with balancing the expressive and instrumental purposes of such statements and the challenges in communication between professionals and victims of crime. The findings highlight several issues with the operation of impact statement regimes. Based on these findings, the book makes recommendations to clarify such regimes to improve communication between justice professionals and victims of crime and to enhance the therapeutic goals of such statements. An accessible and compelling read, this book is essential reading for all those engaged with victimology, sentencing, and sexual violence.

Accommodating Justice Tracey Booth, 2015-12-21. Prominent criminologist David Garland has argued that VISs have led us into unfamiliar territory where the ideological grounds are far from clear and the old assumptions an unreliable guide. A victim impact statement (VIS) is a highly nuanced and individual narrative that can operate as both an informational device in the sentencing process and an expressive mechanism for crime victims. From the law perspective, VISs provide the court with details of harm caused by the offence and the consequences of the offending in order to further purposes of sentencing. As an expressive mechanism, VISs offer victims the opportunity and space to express their feelings, tell their personal story of the aftermath of crime, and be heard by the court, the offender, and the wider community. Though a well-established feature of contemporary sentencing hearings at least in superior courts, VISs remain controversial in common law jurisdictions. The non-legal nature of VISs has generated uncertainty in relation to the functioning of the sentencing hearing, and concerns have been raised that VISs are inconsistent with established legal values detrimental to the offender's entitlement to a fair hearing, detrimental to victims' wellbeing, and harmful to the integrity of the legal proceedings.

Accommodating Justice: Victim Impact Statements in the Sentencing Process explores the complex territory where VISs, the law, and legal institutions intersect with a focus on the requirements of fairness, most particularly in the courtroom. And it does so from multiple perspectives: courts, offenders, and victims. The book draws from a range of theoretical and doctrinal sources as well as empirical studies from Australia, Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom. An ethnographic study of the performance of VISs in homicide sentencing hearings in the NSW Supreme Court woven through most chapters provides an innovative and evidence based approach to the issues      Adversarial Justice and Victims' Rights Mary Iliadis, 2020-04-30 Adversarial Justice and Victims Rights explores the extent to which reforms that offer victims enhanced rights to information and participation across England and Wales Ireland and South Australia can address sexual assault victims procedural and substantive justice concerns The rights status and treatment of sexual assault victims has emerged as a significant 21st century concern occupying the forefront of legal commentary on international policy agendas Informed by the voices of 26 high level criminal justice professionals legal stakeholders and victim support workers and a quantitative dataset this book considers whether legal representation can address some of the problems of the prosecution process for sexual assault victims in Victoria and indeed in other adversarial jurisdictions that employ similar legislative frameworks While acknowledging the value of victim focused reforms the book contends that cultural changes to the ways in which sexual assault victims are perceived and treated are necessary in order to improve victims experiences of the legal process Reconceptualising the role of sexual assault victims from witnesses to participants will also increase the likelihood that victims rights and interests will be considered alongside those of the state and the accused Situating its findings within broader debates about the role rights and treatment of sexual assault victims in adversarial justice systems the book outlines prospects for the transfer of policy and practice between jurisdictions Adversarial Justice and Victims Rights will be of great interest to academic and policy stakeholders engaged in criminology law and socio legal studies as well as students researching sexual violence and victims access to justice      Handbook of Victims and Victimology Sandra Walklate, 2017-07-14 This second edition of the Handbook of Victims and Victimology presents a comprehensively revised and updated set of essays bringing together internationally recognised scholars and practitioners to offer substantial research informed overviews within their specialist fields of investigation This handbook is divided into five parts with each part addressing a different theme within victimology Part I offers a scene setting exploration of new developments in the field enduring issues that remain relatively unchanged and the gaps and traps within the contemporary victimological agenda Part II examines of the complex dimensions to victim experiences as structured by gender age ethnicity sexuality and intersectionality Part III reflects on the problems and possibilities of formulating policy responses in the light of the changing appreciation of the nature and extent of victimhood Part IV focused on the value of a comparative lens and the problems and possibilities of victim policies when seen through this lens explored along three geographical axes Europe Australia and Asia Part V considers other ways of thinking about who counts as a victim and what counts as victimhood and extends the boundaries of the victimological imagination outward Building on the success of the previous edition this book provides an international focus on cutting edge issues in the field of victimology Including brand new chapters on intersectionality child victims sexuality hate crime and crimes of the powerful this handbook is essential reading for students and academics

Judging and Emotion Sharyn Roach Anleu, Kathy Mack, 2021-02-03 Judging and Emotion investigates how judicial officers understand experience display manage and deploy emotions in their everyday work in light of their fundamental commitment to impartiality Judging and Emotion challenges the conventional assumption that emotion is inherently unpredictable stressful or a personal quality inconsistent with impartiality Extensive empirical research with Australian judicial officers demonstrates the ways emotion emotional capacities and emotion work are integral to judicial practice Judging and Emotion articulates a broader conception of emotion as a social practice emerging from interaction and demonstrates how judicial officers undertake emotion work and use emotion as a resource to achieve impartiality A key insight is that institutional requirements including conceptions of impartiality as dispassion do not completely determine the emotion dimensions of judicial work Through their everyday work judicial officers construct and maintain the boundaries of an impartial judicial role which necessarily incorporates emotion and emotion work Building on a growing interest in emotion in law and social sciences this book will be of considerable importance to socio legal scholars sociologists the judiciary legal practitioners and all users of the courts
