Marrall, 2020-08-05 Developing a Library Accessibility Plan A Practical Guide for Librarians provides library professionals with the knowledge tools and templates and practical examples necessary for developing a tailored and comprehensive accessibility plan for their institution Part One provides foundational knowledge about disability experiences in libraries including an overview of existing legislation and a breakdown of the disability community in the United States This part also names and defines the impact of different accessibility barriers within online physical and instructional settings for different populations Part Two outlines the initial stages of a developing a comprehensive plan for resolving accessibility issues These chapters explore how to conduct an environmental scan of existing challenges strategies for identifying potential partners in the resolution of these problems and how to prioritize accessibility initiatives and projects Part Three provides several practical real life examples of projects and initiatives drawn from the author's professional experiences These case studies offer a summary of each accessibility project along the corresponding impact finished by an analysis of lessons learned from the experience A copy of all tools templates and other planning documents are available in the chapter itself The book will help readers understand how to inventory prioritize plan implement and assess a comprehensive improvement plan for electronic physical and instructional and or programming related accessibility issues within their library

Creating Inclusive Libraries by Applying Universal Design Carli Spina, 2021-06-07 As libraries of all types strive to serve diverse communities Universal Design offers principles and approaches that can be used to create welcoming spaces and services Applying Universal Design to Create Inclusive Libraries A LITA Guide offers a thorough and engaging introduction to Universal Design and concrete examples of how these principles can be applied at libraries of all sizes types and budgets This guide covers both Universal Design and Universal Design for Learning and includes real examples of how libraries have used these principles to create more welcoming environments and programming Featuring a mix of examples case studies and checklists this guide is suitable for those who are new to accessibility and inclusion work Examples discussed cover a range of types of projects for all budgets from major renovations to in house signage design projects Libraries covered include public libraries academic libraries school libraries and more It will leave readers confident of steps that they can take at their library to improve inclusion at any price point

Making the Library Accessible for All Jane Vincent, 2014 Any library open to the public has a legal and ethical obligation to make their services accessible This book is intended to be a single source guide relevant to all library functions that librarians can easily refer to when planning remediating or evaluating for accessibility. It has a unique holistic perspective as well as an emphasis on perceiving people with disabilities as providing resources to meet a common goal rather than as a population to be served. Accessibility is becoming an issue that libraries can no longer ignore. Making the Library Accessible for All provides a holistic guide to accessibility that addresses common issues and gives strategies for responding to unique situations. Topics addressed include Increasing effectiveness of interactions with patrons who have disabilities, Interpreting the real intent behind architectural and website accessibility guidelines, Making events and trainings inclusive for everyone.

Creating Inclusive Libraries by Applying Universal Design Carli Spina, 2021-06-07

As libraries of all types strive to serve diverse communities, Universal Design offers principles and approaches that can be used to create welcoming spaces and services. Applying Universal Design to Create Inclusive Libraries: A LITA Guide offers a thorough and engaging introduction to Universal Design and concrete examples of how these principles can be applied at libraries of all sizes, types, and budgets. This guide covers both Universal Design and Universal Design for Learning and includes real examples of how libraries have used these principles to create more welcoming environments and programming. Featuring a mix of examples, case studies, and checklists, this guide is suitable for those who are new to accessibility and inclusion work. Examples discussed cover a range of types of projects for all budgets, from major renovations to in-house signage design projects. Libraries covered include public libraries, academic libraries, school libraries, and more. It will leave readers confident of steps that they can take at their library to improve inclusion at any price point.

Inclusive Libraries for All NABIL, EID, 2024-10-31

All people have the right to access library materials whenever needed. Guaranteeing rights guarantees the freedom to know as a social system. Libraries are organizations that are responsible for ensuring this freedom. Libraries are at the heart of our communities. Every day, people of all ages visit their local library to read, learn, conduct research, communicate, or socialize. However, for various reasons, some patrons or would-be patrons cannot use their library's offerings. Some potential users have disabilities or other limitations and cannot access the resources. Persons with disabilities comprise roughly 15 percent of the global population according to the World Health Organization. This is a significantly sized population that is understudied and poorly understood within the library profession. Hence, the purpose of this book is to identify current problems faced by mainstream libraries for the provision of library services for persons with disabilities and also to present practical solutions that are appropriate to all. The book covers serving users with diverse needs and various abilities and disabilities. It is organized to gather knowledge about international best practices for implementing accessible library facilities within various relevant institutions such as schools, universities, and national and public libraries. The emphasis is to create awareness among library professionals about the need for library services for persons with disabilities in mainstream libraries. As a knowledge system, libraries have much to do with information dissemination to support sustainable development. Sustainable Development Goals SDGs are transformative changes needed to cater to the immediate needs of the present generation.

without causing harm to the future generation in terms of meeting their own needs The items that formed the sustainable development goals were carefully selected and included after a wide consultation by the UN There are seventeen of them However this book is based on the fourth goal Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all United Nations 2015 As an institution responsible for acquiring processing and disseminating information the library should provide its services to patrons without discrimination Information is vital to everyone regardless of religion race nationality tribe and age Access to information is a fundamental human right and the freedom of expression is incorporated into the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights UNDHR It cannot be overemphasized that library services are accessible to students and users with disabilities Providing library services for students and other users with disabilities is an ever increasing phenomenon speeded up by innovative communities and the daily advances of new technologies Information professionals are supposed to have a moral responsibility to ensure that all patrons have access to library information resources Libraries should not offer discriminatory services against patrons on grounds of disability and should ensure that every patron has equal access to library information materials However nondiscriminatory services remain an ideal rather than the norm for some libraries as some patrons with disabilities are still underserved in terms of access to library information resources Environmental physical legal and institutional barriers are some of the factors that limit people with disabilities from social inclusion and these together with negative attitudes are the hardest to overcome

Creating Inclusive Library Environments Michelle Kowalsky,John Woodruff,2016-10-31 Building an Inclusive Library Through Staff Accessibility Training K.T. Vaughan,2019

Libraries provide a needed third place for students to engage with their peers and faculty both academically and socially Staff behavior knowledge and skills in providing an accessible and inclusive environment are key to helping students with disabilities feel that they belong in the libraries This makes training in disability and accessibility awareness a necessary component of the overall program for the library This study assessed a locally developed online training program for staff of all levels that was intended to improve staff knowledge and skills in disability etiquette library services and spaces that support people with disabilities and the policies that govern this work The program used the four part Deines Jones 1999 model for its content and the core principles of andragogy for its instructional design Assessment focused on changes in beliefs and knowledge using an adapted standardized scale and evidence for learning from responses to training program questions focus group discussions and survey responses Further development of the training program was informed by the principles of andragogy Participants in the training program improved their scores in the knowledge domain but had no change in their beliefs domain Learning was most evident in spaces where it engaged with previous knowledge and supportive customer service approaches Participants identified and in several cases independently pursued new questions that were prompted by the training program On the whole participants found the training to be supportive and engaging with minor changes to structure and
