Playbuilding as Arts-Based

Research Joe Norris, Kevin Hobbs, Mirror Theatre, 2024-04-29 The new edition of Playbuilding as Arts-Based Research details how playbuilding—creating an original performative work with a group as a methodology—has developed in qualitative research over the last 15 years. The second edition substantially updates the award-winning first edition by making connections to current research theories, providing complete scripts with URL links to videos and including a new section with interviews with colleagues. Chapter 1 provides an in-depth discussion of the epistemological, ontological, axiological, aesthetic, and pedagogic stances that playbuilding takes, applying them to research in general. The value of a playful, trusting atmosphere, choices of style, casting, set and location in representing the data, and pedagogical theories that guide participatory theatre are highlighted. Chapter 2 discusses how Mirror Theatre generates data structures, dramatic scenes, and conducts live and virtual participatory workshops. Chapter 3 is a thematized account of interviews with 23 colleagues who employ variations of playbuilding that show how playbuilding can be applied in a wide range of contemporary contexts and disciplines. Chapters 4 through 9 describe six projects that address topics of drinking choices and mental health issues, on-campus person-centred care, homelessness, the transition to university, and co-op placements. They include both a theme and a style analyses and workshop ideas. Chapter 10, new to this edition, concludes with quantitative and qualitative data from audiences attesting to the efficacy of this approach. This is a fascinating resource for qualitative researchers, applied theatre practitioners, drama teachers, and those interested in social justice who will appreciate how the book adeptly blends theory and practice, providing exemplars for their own projects.

invoked in disciplines ranging from anthropology and ethnology to literature history business administration and design studies Textbooks that teach ethnography tend to imbue students with the impression that ethnography is a mode of systematic investigation by which the researcher gets closer to the realities of people's everyday lives But how straightforward are these processes in reality As ethnography spreads into new folds of research both within and without the academy the contributions in this volume demonstrate the manner in which field methods are adjusting transforming or taking new forms altogether If textbooks might lead students to believe that observations and interviews are the grounds upon which good ethnography can regularly be produced the authors in this volume take as their point of departure the realisation that ethnography is being used in a multitude of different contexts which forces them and us as readers to question the regularities and irregularities of their own work Popularizing Scholarly Research Patricia Leavy,2021-08-31 Popularizing Scholarly Research Research Methods and Practice contextualizes the role of digital resources such as blogs social media and email in the move toward making scholarship accessible and explains the role of research methods in knowledge construction Topics covered in the book include survey research interviews oral history ethnography autoethnography evaluation literature visual art health theatre narrative film and a range of methods that rely on the internet and social media
