How to Care for Aging Parents Virginia Morris, 2004-01-01 Thoroughly updated and expanded a compassionate single volume reference to the many emotional, legal, financial, medical and logistical issues associated with caring for aging parents. Covers such areas as nursing homes, finances, finding a good doctor, legal arrangements, redefining parental relationships and handling emotional challenges. Original. The Sandwich Generation Charles R. Roots, 1998 Examines ways to alleviate the burden placed upon adult children who care for aging parents but who still have children at home. The study shows that the situation is going to continue complicated by related issues such as the right to die, euthanasia and physician assisted suicide. Topics addressed include who is responsible for whom, the ethical paradox, multiple sandwiching and the role of the church. A 12 week course of study and nine appendices are included. provides practical and necessary guidance to help readers navigate the uncertain and emotional territory of caring for elderly parents. This book addresses the mental and emotional aspects of growing older and offers sound biblical advice on how to care for your loved ones with positivity and respect. Navigating the Journey of Aging Parents Cheryl A. Kuba, 2013-05-13

Navigating the Journey of Aging Parents proposes an entirely unique approach to the field of gerontology giving dependent care receivers a voice. Caregivers will be made aware of what care receivers truly want during life's final chapters. Exploring issues of housing, spirituality, personal care and death, Cheryl Kuba has created a testament to the dependent elderly. This book draws on numerous interviews with aging people and discusses common caregiver mistakes and interpretations what a caregiver should expect when an aging parent moves in and how to care for an aging parent from afar. Kuba also delves into such phenomena as guilt, role reversal, changing family dynamics, financial stress and caring for oneself while caring for another. The 22.4 million elderly people being cared for in the United States comprises the fastest growing segment of the population making this reference on the opinions and concerns of care receivers invaluable.

As Parents Age Joseph A. Ilardo, 1998 Practical checklists, etc. and caring advice for dealing with parents aging while respecting their feelings and knowledge.

Necessary Conversations Gerald Kaufman, 2015-01-27 In this timely book, family counselors Gerald and Marlene Kaufman urge adult children and their parents to have direct conversations about the decisions that lie ahead as parents age. The Kaufmans suggest that families use their parents' retirement as the benchmark for having the first discussion about their parents' plans for the next phase of their lives. The Kaufmans point out that most families wait until they're faced with a crisis before having these conversations. The big questions facing aging adults are:

1. Where should they live as they become less able to care for a property?
2. How will they manage their finances so that they are as prepared as possible to meet their needs as they age?
3. Are they ready to invite one or more of their children to become their partners in making financial decisions?
4. Are they ready to invite one or more of their children to become their partners in making their medical decisions?
5. How can parents and children work together in determining when it's no longer safe or wise for the parents to drive?
6. What end-of-life decisions should parents be prepared to make?
7. What is the best way to have those discussions?

Necessary Conversations is filled with stories and examples from many families, most with different life circumstances but all facing these same issues. The chapters end with "Getting Started" a list of suggestions for action as well as "Questions for focusing on practical outcomes to the discussions." The book includes a series of exhibits from a "Needs Assessment for Caregivers to a Medications and Supplements List to a Driving Contract and Checklist." A thoughtful and useful guide to a life stage that's often dreaded and muddled through. Gerald W. Kaufman and L. Marlene Kaufman have been family counselors for nearly 40 years. This book grew out of a seminar they were asked to lead with their adult daughter and her husband.

Adult Children and Aging Parents Jane E. Myers, 1989 This book was developed to assist counselors and other caregivers in working with adult children and their aging parents. The first chapter addresses normative developmental issues in later life.

This includes the demography of aging theories of aging and attitudes toward older persons along with suggestions for identifying at risk populations implications for counselors and criteria for choosing assessment instruments for older persons. The second chapter addresses several issues of aging including depression suicide drug and alcohol abuse and organic brain diseases that are critical for counselors. The third chapter examines psychosocial concerns of caregivers and adult children as well as family relationships and patterns in later life aging and loss the retirement transition and the transition to grandparenthood. The fourth chapter deals with the possible needs of both older persons and adult children in relation to four family stress situations caregiving institutionalization elder abuse and death and dying. The final chapter provides general information useful to counselors working with adult children and aging parents. The focus is on building and maintaining healthy positive relationships. Several counseling methods are described including bibliotherapy life review genograms and early recollections. An annotated list of assessment instruments is appended along with an extensive list of references.
