Act 1 Part 2

13. "What distinguishes this park from others? Studies of visitors' self-rated enjoyment between the treated and untreated areas found 'a marked' difference in enjoyment between the two areas. The untreated area was rated as more enjoyable, more interesting, and more interesting to visit. The treated area was rated as less interesting, less interesting to visit, and less enjoyable to visit. The untreated area was rated as more interesting, more interesting to visit, and more enjoyable to visit than the treated area, suggesting greater visitor satisfaction." (p. 11)

14. "Why did the Park Board implement these treatments?"
"The Board's concern was not the aesthetic. The Board's emphasis throughout these treatments was on safety. It is interesting, but not as useful, to question what the Park Board did about this." (p. 11)

15. "What did the Park Board do to increase visitor safety through treatments?"
"The Park Board did not do a great deal. There were a few areas where they did some treatments, but the treatments were not widespread." (p. 11)
