An Introduction to Mathematical Taxonomy Graham Dunn, Brian S. Everitt, 2004-01-01 For students of mathematical biology an introduction to taxonomic characters measurement of similarity analysis of principal components multidimensional scaling cluster analysis identification and assignment techniques and the construction of evolutionary trees

Introduction Mathematical Taxonomy G. Dunn, B. S. Everitt, 1982-04-01 Taxonomy comprises a broad variety of activities related to the construction of classificatory systems Over the past several years the development of numerical and mathematical techniques designed to produce more objective results has transformed the field This text offers students of mathematical biology an introduction to modern methods of taxonomy Starting with an introduction to the philosophy and aims of numerical taxonomy the text considers taxonomic characters and the measurement of similarity An analysis of principal components presents geometric and mathematical interpretations other chapters explore multidimensional scaling cluster analysis identification and assignment techniques and the construction of evolutionary trees Each of the eight major sections concludes with a helpful summary of its contents In addition to its value to undergraduates this text should also prove practical for postgraduate students and researchers interested in taxonomy and in the use of numerical methods in evolutionary studies A familiarity with matrix algebra and elementary statistics are the sole prerequisites Book jacket

Genealogical Genetic Structure C. Cannings, 1981-11-26 Although the long term processes of evolution are selection and mutation the infrastructure of a population is a no less important force in determining the distributions of genetic characteristics observable within populations In small populations and in particular in human populations complex patterns of genealogical relationship between individuals can be an important factor in the maintenance of genetic variability The aim of this book is to develop the quantitative theory of the interrelationship between the genealogical and the genetic structures of a population Aspects of other structural features such as migration patterns are also discussed but are not central to the development There are three major aspects each comprises two chapters of the text First genealogical relationships are characterized in a way which can illuminate their genetic consequences Second the evolutionary aspects of genealogical structure are developed Finally the last two chapters present methods of characterizing the complete structure of a genealogy and of computing relevant parameters of genealogical structure these topics are of relevance to genetic epidemiology as well as to population genetics Mathematical Taxonomy Nicholas Jardine, 1977 Mathematical Taxonomy, 1977 Introduction to Mathematical Structures Steven Galovich, 1989-01-01
