Be A Motivational Leader Lasting Leadership Principles:

Be a Motivational Leader LeRoy Eims, 2012-07-01 In today's tough business climate leaders are often driven by the bottom line. But focusing on results can devalue the most critical part of success: Your team. So how can we shift our perspective from profits to people? Simple. We redefine what it means to lead. This is a revolutionary and biblical guide to the art of leadership. Developed by renowned leadership coach and author LeRoy Eims, Be A Motivational Leader provides an insightful practical look at the 12 essential qualities of a leader. You'll discover how to build personal character to build your team, take responsibility in your life and job, cultivate both professional and personal success, mentor and develop new leaders, model achievement to those around you. Throughout you'll be challenged to grow, encouraged to lead with integrity, and inspired to help your team catch a vision bigger than their own. Be the Leader You Were Meant to Be LeRoy Eims, 2012-07-01 Leaders aren't born; they're made. Becoming a successful leader is a continual, lifelong process. It's a journey that requires discipline, intention, and drive. Yet true leadership is not about what we do; it's about who we are. So how can we become leaders of integrity, passion, and excellence? Be The Leader You Were Meant To Be is a definitive resource for creating leaders who make a difference. Biblically based, time-tested, and real-world proven, this landmark guide offers powerful practical insights for personal and professional development. Inside you'll learn how to cultivate the traits of an effective leader, why some leaders succeed more than others, God's standard for authentic leadership, how to resolve career challenges and difficulties, how to excel in any profession, discover how you can make an impact in your workplace, on your team, and in your life. And uncover the leader that God intended you to be. Pretoria Leadership Conference Derick De Jongh, 2024-11-01 The Albert Luthuli Centre for Responsible Leadership invited papers related to responsible leadership from a transdisciplinary perspective involving the social and natural sciences. Subsequent to a lengthy review process, fifteen authors were invited to present at the 3rd International Conference on Responsible Leadership. From these five papers, were finally selected to appear in this Special Edition. Management, leadership, and business knowledge by itself cannot ensure a sustainable and equitable future. What is needed is an integration of knowledge about responsible leadership across disciplinary boundaries ranging from management studies and the physical sciences to law, the humanities, and social science. Only by integrating across current disciplinary boundaries can we find hope for generating what has been termed earth system governance: a way for humanity to manage the complexities of the world to create a just, equitable, and sustainable world for all. The five papers included in this special edition provide insight into responsible leadership and the importance of interdisciplinary dialogue in an interconnected and complex world. The perspectives converge to give us focused insights on responsible leadership as an emerging discourse, confirming the importance of bridging science, business, and politics, and the role that responsible leadership plays in this. Be a Motivational Leader LeRoy Eims, 1993 The Secret Psychology of World-Class Leaders: How the Best Inspire and Influence Ahmed Musa, 2025-03-11 What sets world-class leaders apart? The Manager's Bookshelf Jon Lepley Pierce,John W. Newstrom,2000 A supplement or stand alone text for undergraduate graduate level courses in Introduction to Management or Freshman courses in Introduction to Business This collection of objective summaries of a broad sampling of business best sellers introduces students to the thoughts philosophies views and experiences of a number of authors whose works have captivated the attention of today's management community. It considers the works of noted authors on such topics as management paradigms, high performing organizations, organizational vision and goals, motivation, empowerment and participation, teams and teamwork, leadership, managing diversity, organizational change and renewal, organizational learning and knowledge driven management, global dimensions and managing personal effectiveness.

The Individual, Work and Organization Robin Fincham, Peter S. Rhodes, 1988-06-28. This is the first book to offer students a comprehensive foundation in behavioral studies. It develops psychological and sociological perspectives in a distinctive but complementary way ranging across several different levels of analysis: individual, group, occupational and organizational. Focusing on relevant areas within the work context, the authors adopt a critical discipline based approach providing students with an up to date account of theoretical developments and empirical research from the main areas of occupational psychology, industrial sociology and organization theory. Topics such as work related stress and alternative job design are thoroughly explored as are current debates on the labor process and new technology. This book is a valuable introductory text for all business and management students as well as being highly relevant to more advanced levels of study, particularly those in human resource management and industrial relations.

Dynamics Vs. Tradition in Chinese Foreign Policy Motivation Yin Qian, 1999. This book presents original evidence of a previously undisclosed dark side to China's Hong Kong policy after 1982. It documents a covert program of immigration from the mainland to Hong Kong which was designed to put in place a classic fifth column of Communist loyalists to be used if all other institution based arrangements for the power transfer of the British colony to Chinese rule failed. This finding is revealing and important in its own right as a contribution to study of the Hong Kong transition. But the book focuses more on the broader significance of the motivation of such a fifth column policy for both the study of Chinese foreign policy and international relations theory. Studies of international affairs regularly impute motives to states or their leaders. Yet when it comes to analysis of the imputed motives, most scholars see that as nearly impossible given the difficulty of penetrating the minds of the individual leaders concerned. However, a small number of scholars have taken up the challenge. They believe that foreign policy motivation can be studied despite its apparent complexity and elusiveness. They see the study of motivation of a given foreign policy as the only way of grasping its essence and therefore of ascertaining clues about its future development. This book argues that motivation study advances our understanding of Chinese foreign policy. Drawing on an investigation of existing theoretical studies of motivation, it identifies and synthesises three approaches to the study of motivation that seem particularly relevant to the Chinese case: perception, personality and structural/situational constraining factors. It also analyses the historical, political, cultural, ideological and structural sources of Chinese policymaking to illustrate how these three elements can elucidate Chinese foreign policy motivation. Its conclusion is then tested against the case of China's fifth column policy in Hong Kong. The findings from the Hong Kong case study reflect two parallel but contradictory lines of motivation in the reform era of Deng Xiaoping a dynamic adjusting and learning process on the one hand and a strenuous effort to retain its traditional practice on the other The book concludes that despite increasing pressures for adaptation from constant and tremendous changes in global and national settings Chinese foreign policy motivation could not in the final analysis overcome the constraints imposed by its underlying doctrines and practices which had been so firmly embedded in the minds of the Communist leaders that it became a traditional mode of responding to the unknown and uncertain culture of Chinese foreign policy
