Thinking Big Data in Geography Jim Thatcher, 2018 Thinking Big Data in Geography offers a practical state of the field overview of big data as both a means and an object of research with essays from prominent and emerging scholars such as Rob Kitchin, Renee Sieber and Mark Graham. Part 1 explores how the advent of geoweb technologies and big data sets has influenced some of geography's major subdisciplines: urban politics and political economy, human environment interactions and geographic information sciences. Part 2 addresses how the geographic study of big data has implications for other disciplinary fields, notably the digital humanities and the study of social justice. The volume concludes with theoretical applications of the geoweb and big data as they pertain to society as a whole, examining the ways in which user-generated data come into the world and are complicit in its unfolding. The contributors raise caution regarding the use of spatial big data, citing issues of accuracy, surveillance and privacy. The Jury Master Robert Dugoni, 2008-07-15 New York Times

Bestseller John Grisham move over. A riveting tale of murder, treachery and skullduggery at the highest levels. Seattle Times. In a courtroom David Sloane can grab a jury and make it dance. He can read jurors' expressions, feel their emotions, know their thoughts. With this remarkable ability Sloane gets juries to believe the unbelievable, excuse the inexcusable and return the most astonishing verdicts. The only barrier to Sloane's professional success is his conscience until he gets a call from a man later found dead and his life rockets out of control. Viva Travel Guides Colombia Lorraine Caputo, Paula
