Ravitch, 2021 Educational leaders confront instances of inequity every day whether they are aware of it or not. Many find themselves inadequately reacting to such issues due in part to traditional preparation programs that fail to interrogate the existence and impact of systems of oppression. Why is naming and tackling inequity not at the forefront of every conversation about educational leadership? How do our social constructions of identity hierarchies and deficits misshape what leaders think and do? How do leaders advocate for those who need and deserve advocacy? This volume considers these questions and more by offering unique leadership frameworks that integrate critical theories for social change with everyday practice. By bringing together diverse researchers, practitioners and policymakers who are often pushed to the margins, this volume will help today's leaders see with new eyes and gain the critical tools, language and concepts for equity leadership. The text is organized into four sections: Transforming Self, Transforming Educators, Transforming Organizations and Transforming Systems. Book Features: Interrupts prevailing practices and advocates for a more inclusive intersectional vision of leaders and the field of educational leadership. Specific and useful frames, concepts and practices that leaders can adapt to their own context. Other areas covered are the management of schools in service training and how this relates to the sub roles of teachers and political intervention and policy making.
