About The Author

Donald Wilson loves all aquatic animals but reptiles are his favorite He however has a special love for turtles and bearded dragons He grew up as an only child but he never craved another sibling due to the fact that he always had animals around him He always wanted a turtle or a bearded dragon but his parents decided that they were much too busy to spend the time that was needed to care for these animals and he was too young at one point and then way too busy himself with both school and athletics by the time he got to the age where he was old enough to look after one. As such it was not until he was out of college and settled in his career that he decided to get not one but two turtles, a Red eared Slider and a Painted Turtle, and one male and one female bearded dragon. He knows all there is to know about turtles and bearded dragons and enjoys sharing his vast knowledge about them with all those who are interested in learning about these creatures just for their general knowledge but also those who are considering them as pets. He sees his turtles as his lifetime friends as they are among the longest living creatures in existence and although they do take a lot of care it is completely worth it to him and he loves his friendly little bearded dragons who close their eyes when he rubs their heads.
