Engineering, Business & Professional Ethics Simon Robinson, Ross Dixon, Christopher Preece, Kris Moodley, 2007-02-19 Engineering as a profession and business is at the sharp end of the ethical practice Far from being a bolt on extra to the real work of the engineer it is at the heart of how he or she relates to the many different stakeholders in the engineering project Engineering Business and Professional Ethics highlights the ethical dimension of engineering and shows how values and responsibility relate to everyday practice Looking at the underlying value systems that inform practical thinking the book offers a framework for ethical decision making Covering global corporate responsibility to the increasing concern for the environment within the engineering business the book offers ways in which value conflict can be handled Integrating practice value and diversity the book helps to prepare the engineer for the ethical challenges of the 21st century This book is essential reading for all students on courses accredited by the Engineering Council e g Civil Chemical Mechanical and Environmental Engineering who need to be aware of ethics Also of interest to practicing engineers and professionals such as Sustainability Managers and Community Workers involved in engineering projects The authors have worked together in the area of engineering professional and business ethics for many years and are all members of the National Centre for Applied Ethics at the University of Leeds

Research Ethics in Human Geography Sebastian Henn, Judith Miggelbrink, Kathrin Hörschelmann, 2021-10-25 This book explores common ethical issues faced by human geographers in their research It offers practical guidance for research planning and design that incorporates geographic disciplinary knowledge to conceptualise research ethics The volume brings together international insights from researchers in geography and related fields to provide a comprehensive overview of relevant ethical frameworks and challenges in human geography research It includes in depth reflections on a range of ethical dilemmas that arise in certain contextual conditions and spatial constructions that face those researching and teaching on spatial dimensions of social life. With a focus on the increased need for specialist ethics training as part of postgraduate education in the Humanities and Social Sciences and the necessity for fostering sensitivity in cross cultural comparative research the book seeks to enable people to engage in ethical decision making and moral reasoning while conducting research. Chapters examine the implications of geographical research for conceptualising ethics and discuss specific case studies from which more general conclusions linked to conceptual debates are drawn. As a research based reference guide for tackling ethically sensitive projects and international differences in legal and institutional standards and requirements the book is useful for postgraduate and undergraduate students as well as academics teaching at senior levels. Learning Through Field Susan F. Cochrane, Marla Martin Hanley, 1999 Those new to social work know that their fieldwork experience is the most fulfilling gratifying aspect of their job. Yet it can also be the most confusing stressful challenging and frightening part. This book therefore is intended for new social workers to help them discover understand and benefit from the developmental process of their fieldwork. Written in a friendly helpful manner the book helps readers to identify their strengths needs and learning styles to become familiar with agency organization on the micro mezzo and macro levels to formulate their field goals and strategize ways to evaluate learning to develop and to build on the supervisory relationship and to end their placement in a thoughtful and effective manner. Novice social workers social work teachers and social service professionals. Proceedings of the First National Communication Ethics Conference...May 31-June 3, 1990, Kellogg Biological Station Education Center on Gull Lake, Hickory Corners, Michigan, 1990 This book contains the proceedings of the First National Communication Ethics Conference which reflected the growing interest in communication ethics in SCA. Its purpose is to promote research and teaching relating to ethical issues and standards in all aspects of human communication.

Sport Ethics David Cruise Malloy, Saul Ross, Dwight Harry Zakus, 2000 Sport has always presented participants administrators and observers with a wide and often bizarre array of ethical dilemmas. They take on a special edge perhaps because the sport personalities are usually well known as a result of the extensive media coverage of sporting events. We look in astonishment and horror at such things as the judging debacle in the pairs figure skating event at the 2002 Olympic Winter Games the not too distant future possibility of genetically modified athletes the bribe taking by members of the IOC the widespread steroid use by athletes the child sex abuse cases in hockey the acceptance of physical assault and violence the hooligans among British soccer fans and the drug abusers at the Tour de France. This book provides an analytical framework to enable readers to explore and understand many of the ethical issues and controversies in sport today. Included for discussion purposes are topical case studies drawn from the world of sport and recreation. Ethics and Law Carolyn B. Stone, 2005 ACA Ethical Standards Casebook Barbara Herlihy, Gerald Corey, 1996 Fully updated and revised in accordance with ACA's 1995 Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice the fifth edition of the ACA Ethical Standards Casebook is designed to provide a foundation for analytic evaluation of the standards and guidance in applying these.
