

The following graph shows the aggregate demand (AD) and aggregate supply (AS) curves for a hypothetical economy. Initially, the economy is operating at its full-employment level.

Use the graph to help you answer the questions that follow. You can drag the curves on the graph to help you answer the questions, but you will not be scored on any changes you make to the graph.

Suppose the government increases tax rates without changing its spending.

In the short run, the price level will be  , and real gross domestic product (GDP) will be  billion. In the long run, the price level will be  , and real GDP will be  billion.
