These numbers are further classified as rational or irrational numbers. Irrational numbers cannot be written as a fraction using only integers. Rational numbers in decimal form either terminates or repeats, but irrational numbers continue on forever, without repeating. Examples of the rational numbers include:  $\sqrt{9}$ , 25, and 0.3333333333333333...

Since irrational numbers never terminate or repeat, the decimal form of an irrational number is always non-repeating and non-terminating. Squared roots of numbers, except perfect squares, and most solutions involving  $\pi$  are irrational numbers. For example:

4.0 82325 - 1997-09-030325
