Through the Crosshairs Roger Stahl, 2018-06-21 Now that it has become so commonplace, we rarely blink an eye at camera footage framed by the crosshairs of a sniper's gun or from the perspective of a descending smart bomb. But how did this weaponized gaze become the norm for depicting war and how has it influenced public perceptions? Through the Crosshairs traces the genealogy of this weapon's eye view across a wide range of genres, including news reports, military public relations images, action movies, video games and social media posts. As he tracks how gun camera footage has spilled from the battlefield onto the screens of everyday civilian life, Roger Stahl exposes how this raw video is carefully curated and edited to promote identification with military weaponry rather than with the targeted victims. He reveals how the weaponized gaze is not only a powerful propagandistic frame but also a prime site of struggle over the representation of state violence.

The Hours Have Lost Their Clock Grafton Tanner, 2021-10-12 The Hours Have Lost Their Clock charts the rise of nostalgia in an era knocked out of time. In The Hours Have Lost Their Clock, Grafton Tanner charts the rise of nostalgia in an era knocked out of time. Nostalgia is the defining emotion of our age. Political leaders promise a return to yesteryear. Old movies are remade and cancelled series are rebooted. Veterans reenact past wars while the displaced across the world long for home. But who is behind this collective ache for a home in the past? Do we need to eliminate nostalgia or just cultivate it better? And what is at stake if we make the wrong choice? Moving from the fight over Confederate monuments to the birth of homeland security to the mourning of species extinction, Grafton Tanner traces nostalgia's ascent in the twenty-first century, revealing its power as both a consequence of our unstable time and a defense against it. With little faith in a future of climate change and economic anxiety, many have turned to nostalgia to weather the present while powerful elites exploit it for their own gain. An exploration into the politics of loss and yearning The Hours Have Lost Their Clock is an urgent call to take nostalgia seriously The very future depends on it Disability and the Posthuman Stuart Fletcher Murray,2020-05-08 Disability and the Posthuman is the first study to analyse cultural representations and deployments of disability as they interact with posthumanist theories of technology and embodiment Working across a wide range of texts many new to critical enquiry in contemporary writing film and cultural practice from North America Europe the Middle East and Japan it covers a diverse range of topics including contemporary cultural theory and aesthetics design engineering and gender the visualisation of prosthetic technologies in the representation of war and conflict and depictions of work time and sleep While noting the potential limitations of posthumanist assessments of the technologized body the study argues that there are exciting productive possibilities and subversive potentials in the dialogue between disability and posthumanism as they generate dissident crossings of cultural spaces Such intersections cover both fictional imagined and material grounded examples of disability and look to a future in which the development of technology and complex embodiment of disability presence align to produce sustainable yet radical creative and critical voices
