Gender, Race, and Class in Media Bill Yousman, William E. Yousman, Lori Bindig, Yousman, Gail Dines, Jean McMahon Humez, 2020-07-24 Incisive analyses of mass media including such forms as talk shows, MTV, the internet soap operas, television sitcoms, dramatic series, pornography, and advertising enable this provocative new edition of Gender, Race, and Class in Media to engage students in critical mass media scholarship. Issues of power related to gender, race, and class are integrated into a wide range of articles examining the economic and cultural implications of mass media as institutions, including the political economy of media production, textual analysis, and media consumption. Throughout Gender, Race, and Class in Media, examines the mass media as economic and cultural institutions that shape our social identities, especially in regard to gender, race, and class.

American Cinema of the 2010s Dennis Bingham, 2021-12-10 The 2010s might be remembered as a time of increased polarization in American life. The decade contained both the Obama era and the Trump era, and as the nation's political fissures widened, so did the gap between the haves and have-nots. Hollywood reflected these divisions, choosing to concentrate on big franchise blockbusters at the expense of mid-budget films, while new players like Netflix and Amazon offered fresh opportunities for low-budget and independent filmmakers. As the movie business changed, films ranging from American Sniper to Get Out found ways to speak to the concerns of a divided nation. The newest installment in the Screen Decades series, American Cinema in the 2010s, takes a close look at the memorable movies, visionary filmmakers, and behind-the-scenes drama that made this decade such an exciting time to be a moviegoer. Each chapter offers an in-depth examination of a specific year, covering a wide variety of films from blockbuster superhero movies like Black Panther and animated films like Frozen to smaller-budget biopics like I, Tonya and horror films like Hereditary. This volume introduces readers to a decade in which established auteurs like Quentin Tarantino were joined by an exceptionally diverse set of new talents taking American cinema in new directions.

Off the Map Niles Schwartz, 2018-06-11 A motion picture chronicling the last adventures of bank robber John Dillinger, Johnny Depp's Public Enemies was met with much bafflement upon its 2009 release. Director Michael Mann's terse storytelling and unorthodox use of high-definition digital cameras challenged viewers' familiarity with Hollywood's historical gangland elegance, while highlighting Public Enemies' own place in a medium and culture undergoing sweeping technological change. In Off the Map, Niles Schwartz immerses us in Mann's representation of Dillinger, a subject increasingly aware of his own role as a romanticized frontier folk hero in flight from an enveloping bureaucratic system. The cultural issues of Dillinger's 1930s anticipate the 21st century watershed moment for the moving image as our relationship with the pictures surrounding us increasingly affects our own sense of identity historical truth and means of relating to each other Mann's follow up the hacker thriller Blackhat 2015 reflects a world where Public Enemies abstract surveillance state has since colonized the firmament of our everyday lives Yet in this virtual labyrinth of surplus images cinema may inwardly illuminate a transformative path for us Off the Map places Mann's late works in deep focus exploring our present relationship to cinema on a backdrop that swings from the blockbuster spectacle of Avatar to the curious intimacy of Moonrise Kingdom ultimately suggesting the mysterious space between the viewer and the screen may yet become a sanctuary of deep spiritual reflection
