Blockaded Family Southern Alabama During:

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague,1991-01-01 Parthenia Vardaman later Hague experienced the Civil War while employed as a schoolteacher on a plantation near Eufaula Alabama A Blockaded Family recounts how a frightened and war weary household dealt with privations during a blockade imposed on the South The author shows that the Yankees had no monopoly on ingenuity when survival depended upon self sufficiency She describes in detail the changes forced by war on farming methods the daily imperatives of finding enough to eat and making do with substitutes the manufacture of shoes and clothes on the plantation A Blockaded Family is memorable for its glimpses of wartime domestic life and of the ways anxious citizens coped as the northern army closed in

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Vardaman Hague,2000 A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague,1971 A personal account of life in southern Alabama during the Civil War 1861 1865 written by Parthenia Antoniette Vardaman Hague born in 1838 in Georgia She was living near Eufaula Alabama during this time She wrote about her family neighbors friends and other people living in southern Alabama and how they had to become self sufficient when the North blockaded the Southern States at the beginning of the Civil War The South was almost totally dependent on the North for food clothing shoes supplies etc especially in southern Alabama

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague,1995 This reminiscence of daily life on a Southern plantation during the Civil War was originally published in 1888 Filled with vivid details of everything from methods of making dyes and preparing foods to race relations and the effects of the war the book is an unusual and beautifully written primary source of Southern life inside the blockade imposed by the Union Parthenia Hague Classics Parthenia Antoinette Hague,2020-12-04 Ms Hague recounts her personal recollections of the civil war describing the ingenious and laborious efforts to maintain a decent life in a small village in Alabama

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague,2014-11-23 This is a memoir written by a Southern woman during the Civil War that talks about what life was like in the Deep South and the effects the North s naval blockade had A Blockaded Family; Life in Southern Alabama During the Civil War Parthenia Antoinette Hague,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1888 edition Excerpt XIV Just as soon as the railroads could be repaired and bridges builded anew I made haste to get to my father s again to find how all had gone with them while our foes were marching through Georgia I had tried for three months or more to get a letter or message of some sort to them as they had to me but all communication for the time being was completely broken up I had spent many sad hours thinking of those at home and was almost afraid to hear from them but as soon as a train ran to Columbus I ventured forth I had traveled over the same road time and again on my way to and from home but now as I beheld the ruins of grim visaged war whichever way I cast my eyes I must confess to a somewhat rebellious and bitter feeling There are moments in the experience of every human being when the heart overflows like the great Egyptian river and cannot be restrained O thou great God of Israel I cried why hast thou permitted this dire calamity to befall us Why is it that our homes are so despoiled And I marveled not at the captive Hebrews mournful plaint as by the rivers of Babylon they hung their harps on the willows As the train slowed up on the Alabama side of the Chattahoochee River I looked eagerly over to the opposite bank where the home of my father was situated For a few seconds my pulse must have ceased to throb as I beheld the ruins of the city of Columbus With others I took my seat in an omnibus and was driven to the river's edge there to await the coming of the ferry boat which had been built since all the bridges on the river had been burned by the hostile army The scene seemed so unreal that like Abou Hassan the caliph of fiction I was thinking of biting my fingers to make sure I was really awake

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague, 2015-12-03 This is a memoir written by a Southern woman during the Civil War that talks about what life was like in the Deep South and the effects the North's naval blockade had

A Blockaded Family: Life in Southern Alabama During the Civil War Parthenia Antoinette Hague, Cheryl Ann Chambliss, 2011-09-01 A Blockaded Family by Parthenia A Hague is a testament to the ingenuity adaptability and inventiveness with which a community cut off from outside resources resorts to fending for themselves and utilizing nature's bounty Less about politics and more about enduring it contains tips on surviving and making do From making a coffee substitute from okra seeds watermelon syrup for sugar substitute and persimmon seeds for buttons this book captivates the reader with timeless wisdom

A Blockaded Family: Life in Southern Alabama During the Civil War Parthenia Hague, 2018-02-22 Giving in an easy kindly sympathetic style the every day life in Southern Alabama during the dark days of Civil War Current Opinion Parthenia Antoinette Vardaman Hague 1838 1914 author was born at Dowdells Mill Harris County Georgia She finished her education in Harris County Ga at Hamilton female college After graduation from Hamilton Female college she lived in Hurtville AL about 11 miles from Eufaula AL in Barbour County where she was a teacher on a plantation She lived in Alabama in the 1860s In 1888 she published a book A BLOCKADED FAMILY The book was endorsed personally by Jefferson Davis and Gen Beauregard and is a book of great interest describing the expedients resorted to by the people of blockaded districts to procure the necessities of life The book presents a picture of life in Southern Alabama during the civil war the contrasting colors of which are distributed very skillfully The patience and the heroism displayed by the women of the South during four years of conflict especially when we take into consideration the luxury which they had formerly enjoyed has often been acknowledged and the book in question gives details of their daily life of their privations and yet of their occasional pleasures the reading of which is sure to interest The tone in which the story is told also commends itself There is not a word of reproach in it and not a note of harshness or vindictiveness sounded So wide and varied is the field to be yet harvested for crops of information about the home life of Southern people in the War that we are glad to take up Miss Hague's A Blockaded Family It will be found to be a record of interest while unpretending as a piece of literary work Miss Hague was a governess of Southern birth and sympathy living in the household of an Alabama planter during the four years that threw women as much upon their own resources to secure the necessities of daily life as did the residence of the Swiss Family Robinson upon their desert isle The author s task has been to detail the innumerable devices of herself and friends to supply cloth shoes hats thread dyes hoop skirts buttons to find substitutes for coffee tea raisins starch and medicines The castor oil plant growing abundantly near their house was cultivated and from the beans crushed in mortars an oil was obtained as satisfactory as any bought from the ante bellum apothecary Salt in the regions remote from the seacoast and the border States was a luxury In some case s the salty soil under old smoke houses was dug up and put into hoppers from which by a homely process of evaporation a grey deposit was obtained serving as salt for want of something better Home made pottery replaced breakages in the pantry All of the ladies learned to card and spin and weave So universal was the necessity for things of everyday that while every hand and brain was lent to the task of contriving there was less time to spend in lamentation over the increasing burden of a common care We recommend Miss Hague s book as an interesting and evidently unexaggerated account of a momentous time in the history of our country     A blockaded family Mrs. Parthenia Antoinette Vardaman Hague,1888

A Blockaded Family Parthenia Antoinette Hague,2017-06-03 Excerpt from A Blockaded Family Life in Southern Alabama During the Civil War ON a glorious sunshiny morning in the early summer of 1861 I was on my way to the school house on the plantation of a gentleman who lived near Eufaula Ala bama and in whose service I remained during the period of the war As I was nearing the little school room on a rising knoll all shaded with great oaks and sentineled with tall pines I heard skipping feet behind me and one of my scholars exclaiming Here is a letter for you Miss A l It has just been brought from the office by Ed the negro boy who was sent every morning for the mail About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
