

CAUTION

Your Bodylastics system is not a toy. It is a serious piece of exercise equipment. In fact, what you have in your possession is the most powerful slingshot on the planet. Use it with caution and care! When using the door anchor, be sure to place it on the hinge side of the door and lock your door! When standing on the bands make sure to always wear athletic shoes, and position the bands securely under the arches of your feet. Always check your components (bands etc.) for damage prior to use. In the event that a component looks damaged, stop using it immediately and contact support@bodylastics.com to arrange for a replacement in accordance with the warranty.

While your Bodylastics bands have built-in snap reduction and safety tech, they are not snap proof! They will not catch you in the event that a band does actually snap. Similar to free weights or ANY other type of fitness equipment, you must always exercise common sense and caution. Regardless of the exercise performed, you must ALWAYS adjust your body weight in a manner to avoid losing your balance, in the event that a band does snap.

Now Let's get to work!
