

Continue stitching ruffles, slightly overlapping the previous ones until you have the entire tier covered. Grasp the cake pan with one hand, conduct the other between the pan and your other hand, and flip back over carefully. Place the finished cake on top of the 5-in/13-cm tier.

PLACING FLOWERS

Now it's time to place the flower arrangements on the cake. Begin by inserting a large dahlia into the center back of the 8-in/20-cm tier. Create two bunches of peonies, lilac flowers, leaves, and berries. Tuck the wires together and then wrap with floral wire. Insert these arrangements into plastic flower foil and then insert into the cake with ruffle nose pliers. The deeper the wire, completely separate from the cake. Always remember that it is dangerous for wires to remain contact with cake. The needles from the cake can cause a reaction, and chemicals can be released into the food product from these arrangements to the left of the large dahlia at about 7 o'clock, so that the arrangement appears to be at a slight angle, and to the right side of the large dahlia at about 2 o'clock. Add more berries, lilac flowers, and leaves to fill in any holes or holes.

Place a large peony on the border of the cake. Surround the peony with small arrangements of blackberries, lilac berries, lilac flowers, and leaves, covering the entire top tier.

Baker's Secret

If you wish to display a cake on a plate instead of a stand, as I do for the cake, you will need to stick the cake onto a plate. Insert an offset spatula under the bottom tier. Lift it up so you can get your hand under the cake and place onto the plate. Repeat process with the other tiers, stacked on top of each other. Then attach your flowers as directed.
