As One With Authority Reflective Leadership In Ministry:

As One with Authority Jackson W. Carroll, 1991-01-01 Teachers of theology seminary students and pastors will benefit from an encounter with this book with respect to what it does say and with respect to the challenge it poses for further imaginative theological reflection leadership

As One with Authority, Second Edition Jackson W. Carroll, 2011-05-11 Congregations today face both old and often new unprecedented challenges spiritual moral technological and economic for which there are no easy solutions Facing such challenges calls for pastors able to lead with authority in ways at the same time faithful to the gospel and appropriate to the congregation's setting and the issues at hand Yet many pastors are unsure of their authority often experiencing conflict as they attempt to lead Others have abused their authority and brought mistrust and suspicion to ordained ministry making it difficult for other clergy to lead In this book a new and revised edition of his earlier highly regarded work on pastoral authority and leadership Jackson Carroll brings together theological and sociological perspectives to provide an interpretation of pastoral authority as reflective leadership a style of leadership that involves vision and discernment and that is appropriate for the many roles in which pastors engage preaching worship leadership teaching counseling and shaping the congregation's corporate life In this new edition Carroll draws on what he has learned from many conversations with pastors and lay leaders since the book's initial publication as well as insights from others He also introduces helpful new case material from practicing pastors and incorporates the perspectives of several recent leadership theorists and practitioners to deepen and enhance the discussion of pastoral authority as reflective leadership

As One with Authority, Second Edition Jackson W. Carroll, 2011-05-11 Description Congregations today face both old and often new unprecedented challenges spiritual moral technological and economic for which there are no easy solutions Facing such challenges calls for pastors able to lead with authority in ways at the same time faithful to the gospel and appropriate to the congregation's setting and the issues at hand Yet many pastors are unsure of their authority often experiencing conflict as they attempt to lead Others have abused their authority and brought mistrust and suspicion to ordained ministry making it difficult for other clergy to lead In this book a new and revised edition of his earlier highly regarded work on pastoral authority and leadership Jackson Carroll brings together theological and sociological perspectives to provide an interpretation of pastoral authority as reflective leadership a style of leadership that involves vision and discernment and that is appropriate for the many roles in which pastors engage preaching worship leadership teaching counseling and shaping the congregation's corporate life In this new edition Carroll draws on what he has learned from many conversations with pastors and lay leaders since the book's initial publication as well as insights from others He also introduces helpful new case material from practicing pastors and incorporates the perspectives of several recent leadership theorists and practitioners to deepen and enhance the discussion of pastoral authority as reflective leadership Endorsements When a book is described as a classic it means it stands the test of time Its message is as important today as when the author first put pen to paper Jackson Carroll's As One With Authority is a classic. This book remains essential reading for every church leader who wants to understand the unique kind of leadership needed in congregations. This is one of those rare books that should never sit neglected on a shelf. It is meant to be read, marked, learned, and inwardly digested and shared with a new generation of pastors. Michael Jinkins, President Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. Based on solid theological and sociological research and several decades of astute observation, Jackson Carroll has updated his classic work on As One With Authority and just in time to benefit those clergy who are questioning their authority. Jackson clarifies the narrative of pastoral authority as reflective leadership and takes us back to those biblical roots as old as Paul, Jesus, Isaiah, and Moses. This is a penetrating exposition of the biblical vision of the way pastoral ministry should be done and is the first book every beginning student of ministry should read. I recommend it most highly. Robert E. Cooley, President Emeritus, Gordon Conwell Theological Seminary. Pastors need the expertise that allows them to read the social situation and interpret their traditions but also an ear for the calling and vision that lends their work sacred weight. Building on the insight sociology has to offer and his own keen theological sensibilities, Carroll speaks here as one with authority. Nancy T. Ammerman, Professor of Sociology of Religion, Boston University. About the Contributor: Jackson W. Carroll is the Ruth W. and A. Morris Williams Jr. Professor Emeritus of Religion and Society at Duke University Divinity School, where he also was project director of Pulpit Pew Research on Pastoral Leadership. An ordained United Methodist minister, he has most recently authored God's Potters: Pastoral Leadership and the Shaping of Congregations (2006). He has also written extensively on pastoral ministry and congregations, including Mainline to the Future: Congregations for the 21st Century (2000). By What Authority Do We Teach? Robert W. Pazmino, 2002-04-29. To reject power and its legitimate use is ultimately to reject God's gift and intention for Christians as we live in the world, writes Robert W. Pazmino. He defines what authority is and how it is perceived by and operates in various Christian communities. He applies these factors and the need for confident, authoritative teachers specifically to the ministry of Christian education. By What Authority Do We Teach? completes a trilogy covering key elements of evangelical education. Also in print are Foundational Issues in Christian Education, an agenda of theological, sociological, psychological, curricular, and other concerns; and Principles and Practices of Christian Education, which integrates conversion and connection into the teaching task. What's Right with Preaching Today? Mike Graves, André Resner, 2021-03-09. In 1928, when Riverside Church NYC pastor Harry Emerson Fosdick asked the question in Harpers Magazine, "What's the Matter with Preaching Today?", he did not know that one response to that question had just entered the world in Humboldt, Tennessee. Fred B. Craddock revolutionized preaching theory and practice by flipping pulpit logic from deductive to inductive, often called the "preaching as storytelling" revolution. And in so doing, brought renewed interest and impact to the practice of preaching, effectively rescuing it from an often tedious and moralizing fate. With Fred, preaching was anything but boring. Rather, it was an exciting and enlightening ride that led to the renewal of faith. To honor Craddock's legacy, Mike Graves and Andre Resner invited ten leading voices in homiletics to identify something that is right about preaching today In addition they issued a call to a wide variety of people to contribute stories about Fred s impact on their lives and ministries Twenty seven remembrances of Fred are included here throughout the book If you appreciate effective and engaging preaching as either a preacher or listener the essays and remembrances here will speak to you and provide encouragement about preaching s present and future With contributions from Ronald J Allen Barbara K Lundblad Alyce McKenzie Debra J Mumford Luke Powery Andre Resner Richard Ward Dawn Ottoni Wilhelm Paul Scott Wilson 1 and 2 Timothy/Titus Walter L. Liefeld,1999 In Paul s letters to Timothy and Titus the apostle describes the earmarks of leaders in the church Capable godly leaders need to be sound in character which has been proved in life s everyday realities The Chicago Theological Seminary Register Chicago Theological Seminary,1997 Alumni directory issue 1859 1951 v 44 no 4 v 45 no 1 Growing Church Leaders Robert H. Ramey, Jr.,Ramey,1995-10 Review of Religious Research ,1996 The Political World of the Clergy Ted G. Jelen,1993-08-30 This study examines the role of religion in American politics It begins with the assumption that there exist multiple democratic theories and that religion has a different role to play in each It compares consensus theories of American political culture and dualistic theories of political mobilization and accounts which emphasize the diversity of the American citizenry The question of how religious leaders view their political roles is of the work s focus The major part of the study consists of interviews with nearly thirty Protestant ministers and Roman Catholic clergy concerning their conceptions of the relationship between the sacred and the political These conceptions are then related to the various theories of democratic political culture with the conclusion that each of three traditions Roman Catholicism mainline Protestantism and Evangelical Protestantism embodies to some extent one of the models of democratic politics This work will be of interest to scholars and students of American politics government and religion Elenchus of Biblica ,1993 The Teaching Church Eugene C.
